(A) The Chrysler Band's "number one" stands as a symbol of unity and excellence.

(B) Exemplifying great diversity is the student section at a home football game.

(C) Upon receiving her certificate of academic achievement, Stephanie Osborne is congratulated by Mr. Lehr.

A Unity of Diversity

In today's world, individual freedom seems to be a familiar cry. As a student at Chrysler High, I am able to experience this freedom. I am one of the nearly 1300 in three grade levels that meet here. Among such a number, an individual often overlooked.

However, at CHS I am granted the freedom to choose in almost every facet of school life. Within these, I may associate or participate. I may be active or I may be passive. I can be unique. I can be different. And yet I am a part of the unity that exists here. I create my own web and then join with others. It is a result of this profound choice, this multiple choice.

A Look at the Past . . .

Why is it that I always realize how great something is after it has passed? I often think back to past experiences . . .

That feeling I had when the Trojan Band was announced number one at the State Fair?

Or the relief I felt upon receiving that ever-awaited "A" in English. The 31-0 football victory over Anderson.

The crazy things
I did in the halls with friends. Those super basketball games.
Singing songs at the top of my lungs on those never-ending bus trips.
Gazing out the window at the first snowfall.

The Carpenters.
Prom. And all those exciting weekends.
School wasn't so bad after all. And now I can see that it all went so fast. I can never relive it again so

I must go on.
But every once in a while
I will stop and take a look at the past . . .

(A) Enjoying a memorable evening at Prom are four Chrysler High students.
 (B) At the annual ice cream social, the Trojan Marching Band performs its first place State Fair routine.
 (D) Chrysler graduates stand together during Commencement exercises in the Fieldhouse.

Spirit is a more obvious factor at CHS this year as I unite with others in taking pride in our success. A more obvious attitude is shown inside the school walls as various improvements are being made. In part,
 I seem to get more involved. A sense of the same routine diminishes
 with a change of pace ...

A Change of Pace

(A) Enjoying a warm afternoon on bikes are Brent and Brad Taylor
(B) Head Coach Twyman Patterson explains a play to senior Jim Barr
(C) After school, the Flag Corps practices a routine in the parking lot
(D) Tom Judkins escapes the worries of daily life

 (B) Michelle Smith unwinds in the library from a hectic day
 (C) By clocking in, Doug Fulton receives a pass to his next class
 (D) Honor jacket winners look on at the annual Achievement Day convocation
 (E) Toys and stuffed animals brought in by Sociology students for the State Hospital party are shown by David Coleman

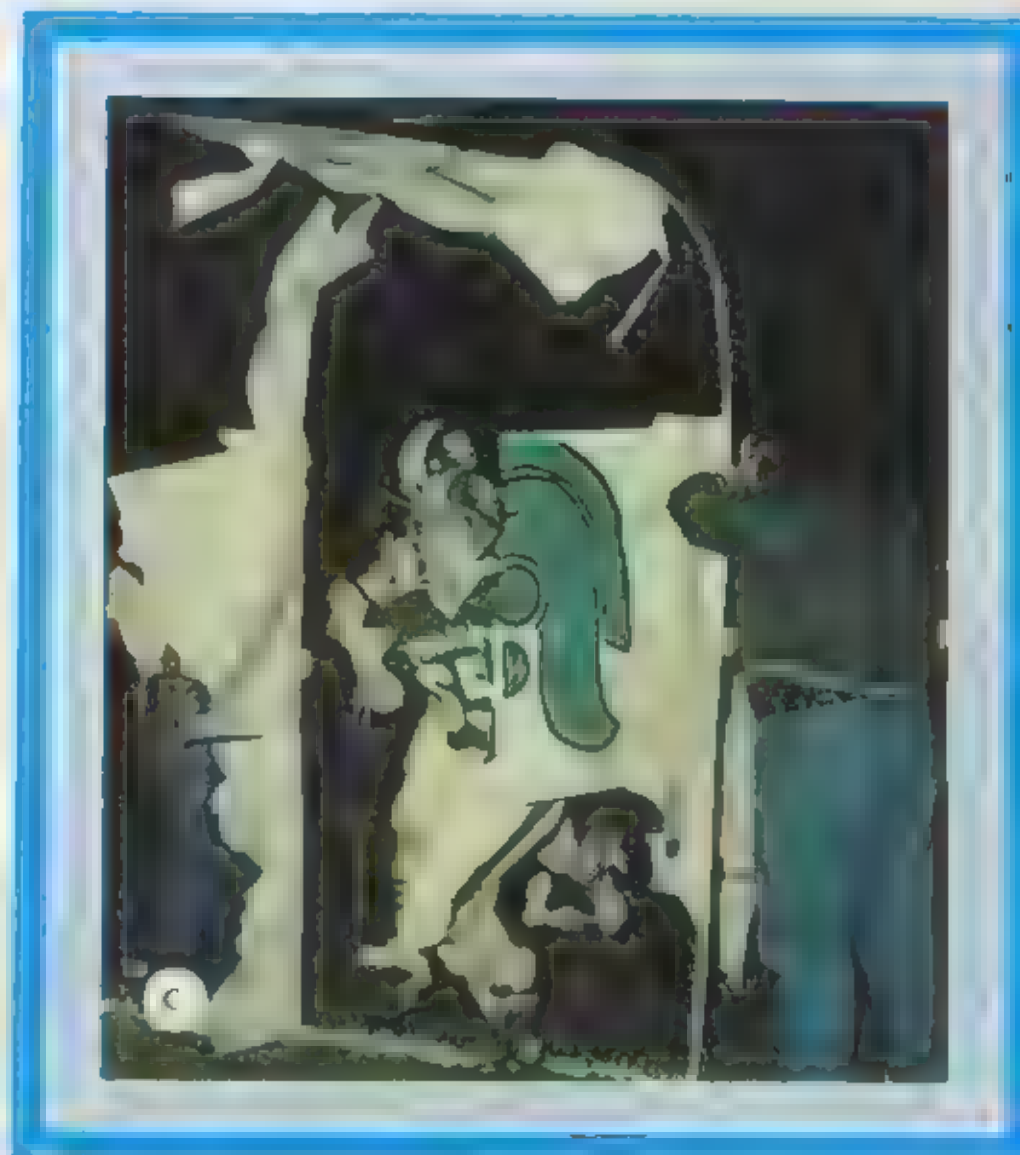

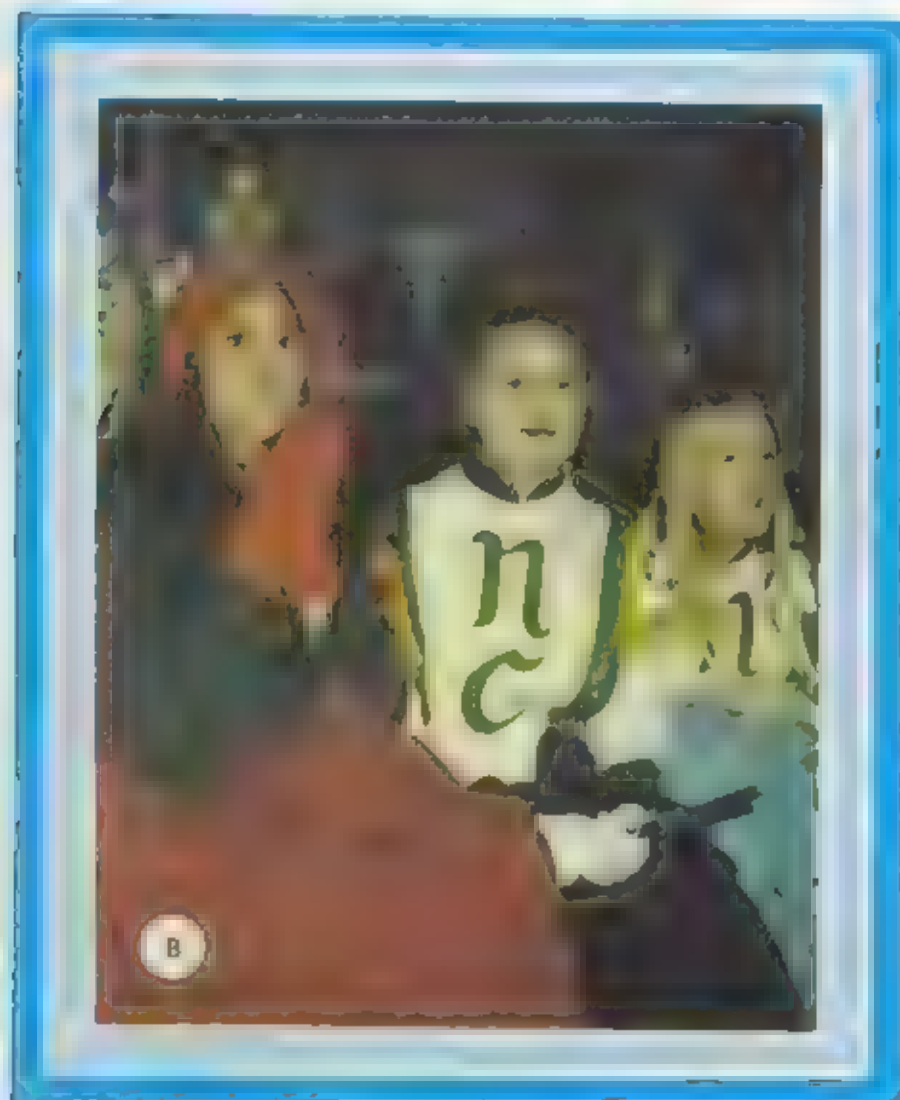

Awareness . . .

As days go by, I find myself thinking more and more — searching life out
 I reach a point of awareness
 when I can understand These are great times The senior year seems to draw the class closer. Sophomores and Juniors become more involved
 Together we achieve
 Together we fail
 I realize this in my time of thoughtfulness,
 my time of awareness

Response . . .

Sometimes I like to get away and sit alone with my conscience
in a place where no one would dare look and just relive a few moments treasure existence
I think of the questions I have to answer through all eternity,
and whether my judgment will be suitable
I may ask myself if there is really a future, or if the future is the present the present that will never end!
Will I always have choices to decide from in my life or will time cease?
But I awaken, and in this mystic moment I depict a sense of gratitude and response

Emotions . . .

I look around, I see people laugh cry get excited live breath run jump fly jive boogie see walk feel

Our student body and school life are made up of many feelings, varied emotions .

Decade to Decade 'As Time Goes By'

The theme "As Time Goes By" was enhanced with continuous halls illustrating characteristics of the 50's, 60's, and 70's. Guests entered first into the 50's hall with park benches and white trees. Posters of the Beatles, Elvis Presley, and other popular singers adorned the 60's hall. The 70's brought black lights and Day-Glo posters of current styles.

The gym had a soft style with multicolored paper streamers suspended from the center of the ceiling to all edges. The coronation platform was decorated with a pastel puffed crepe paper rainbow. Dakota, a rock group, provided dance music.

Red tablecloths, draperies, and wall coverings with black trim lighted by tiffany style patio lanterns converted the cafeteria into "The Lamplighter 1890."

At exactly 11:00, the coronation began as the Prom Queen candidates and their escorts approached the coronation platform. Then the final moment arrived with the crowning of Jan Blasing as Prom Queen 1974.

Drama Takes a Special Breed

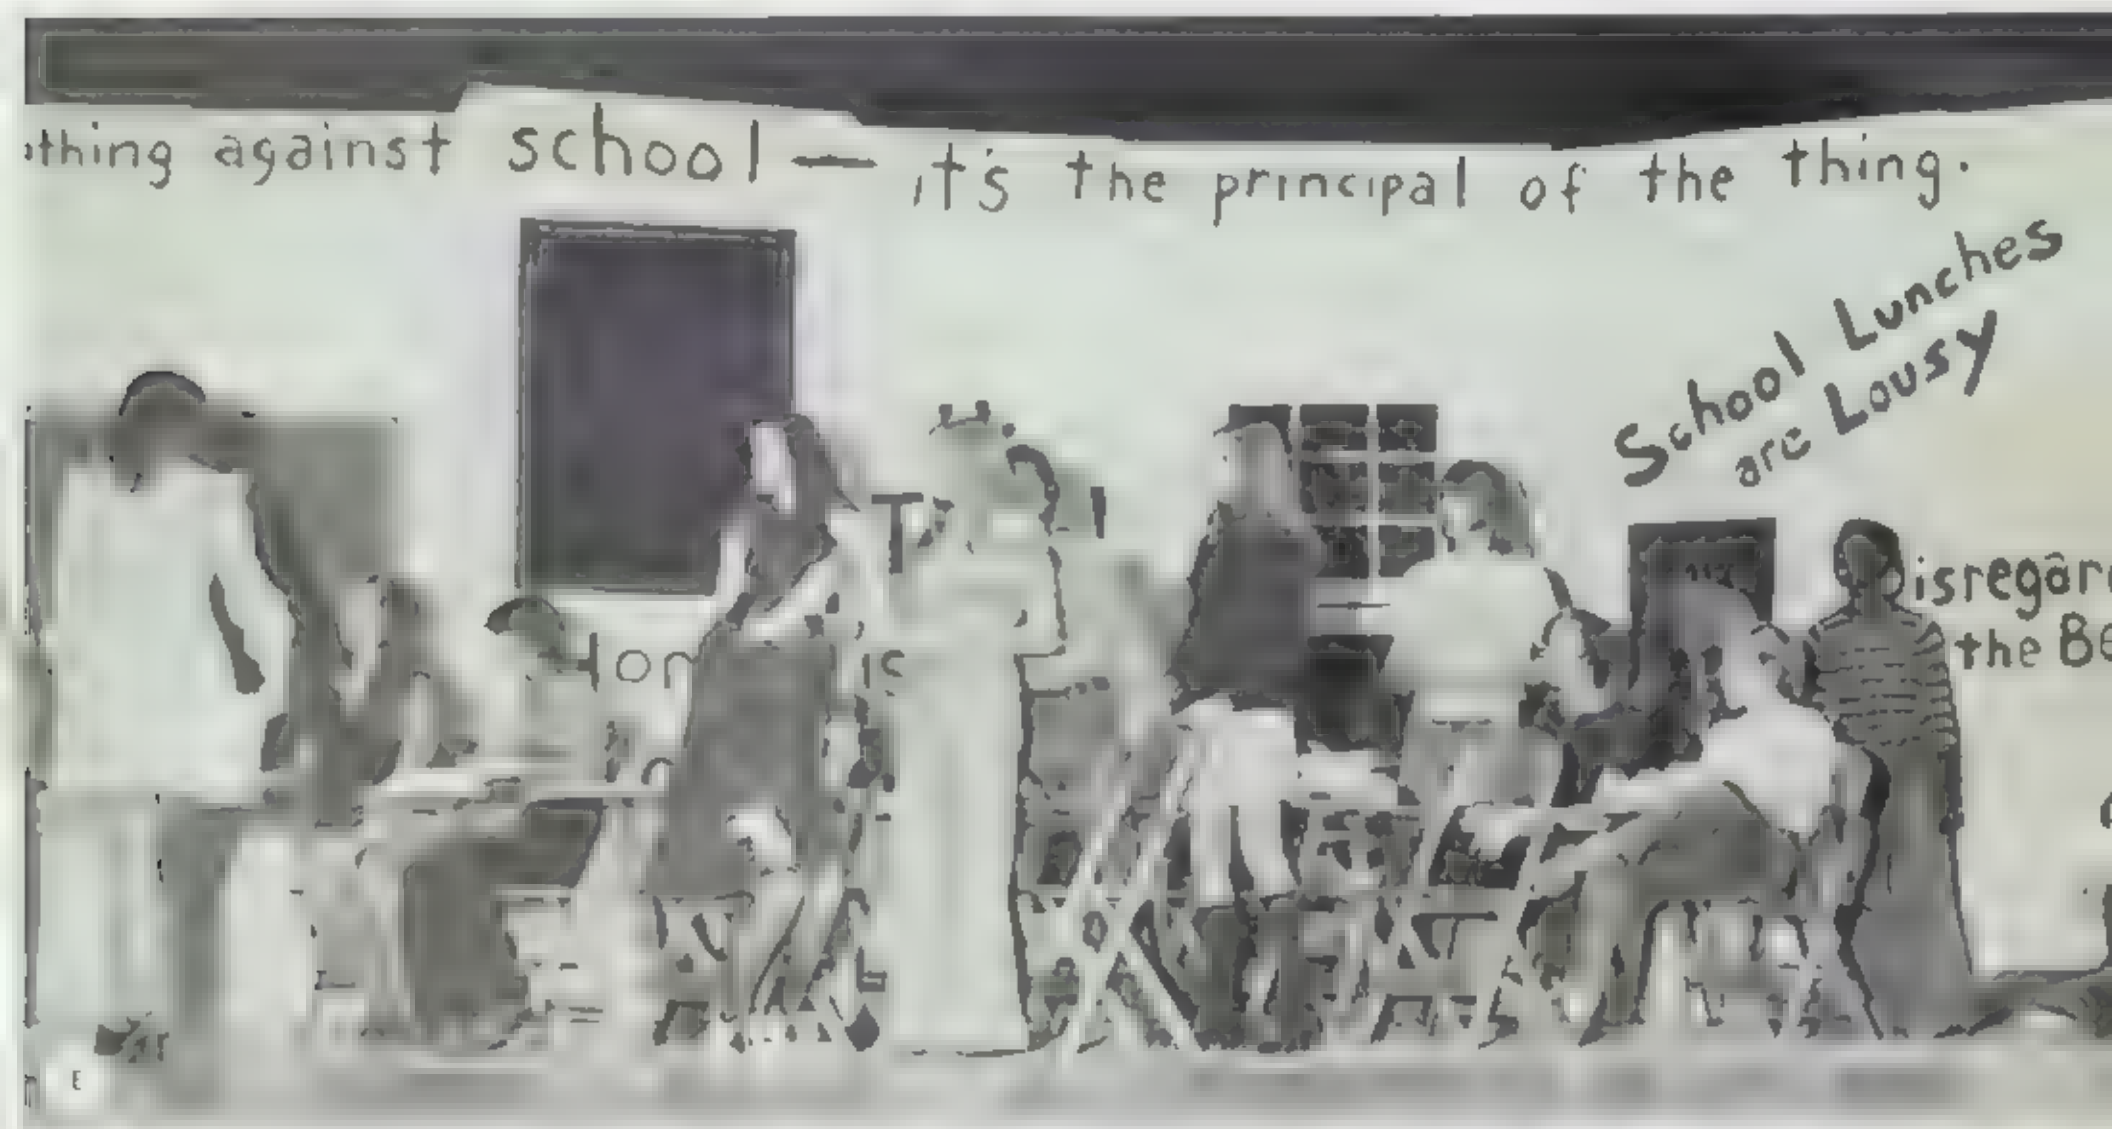

Building a character, memorizing lines and performing before an audience were tremendous pressures that kept many from the stage. For those who did stand up against the strain, theater was a rewarding experience.

The unique relationships felt by the performing unit resulted from the long tense hours of dedication to their art. They not only expressed themselves, but also the character they portrayed.

Organization of a production took sacrificing of time as well as dedication, and sacrificing of time could well be expressed by the people behind the curtain. The crew members created the "air" of the production by the construction of the sets, the costumes and makeup, the lighting, and the evident moral support.

All of these traits and pressures combined, formed the elements needed to produce a successful show. And sifted from the mass of students was that rare and special breed.

Icy Illusions Highlight Winter Dance

"Winter Wonderland" with its icy illusions, frosted window panes, and wonderful snow was chosen as the theme for the 1975 winter dance.

As couples entered the hallway, there were white arches lining the path. Each arch was decorated with sprigs of evergreen and white twinkle lights. Paper snowballs thrown by a mysterious shadow were used to adorn the windows with the attending couples' names. An old fashioned sleigh was the setting for posed pictures which helped create an "air" of nostalgia.

A canopy of streamers, in two shades of blue, covered the ice skating rink or dance floor. To create an illusion of being outside, the walls were decorated with artificial trees and silver stars. The rock group "Jesse" entertained guests with their original tunes and arrangements of popular songs.

For refreshments, guests were invited into the imaginary ski lodge that contained a rustic fireplace. Many assortments of refreshments and punch were served to the some four hundred guests.

At approximately 10:45, the mood of the dance became more serious. President of the Senior Class, Bob Boyd, introduced and gave a brief resume concerning each candidate. Finally after tense, nervous moments of anticipation were endured, Greta Morris was crowned queen of the 1975 Winter Wonderland dance.

It Takes Guts . . .

It took guts this past summer to say goodbye to Mom and Dad, good food, and a T.V. set to spend a week at Marian College in Indianapolis

This summer meant marching eight long hours a day, practicing music, eating lousy food, sunburns, aching muscles, not to mention initiation

The initiation ritual this past summer was a humorous and serious affair. The initiates not only endured mental aggravation and cruelty but physical pain as well. Anyone who was able and willing to stand up against the strain and abide by the rules was welcomed into the conglomeration of honking horns and beating drums

Not all of the time was devoted to practice and initiation. Everyday held a new way to communicate. Playing cards, swimming, participating in the snort contest, or taking a walk gave each person a chance to express his individuality. Directors became friends instead of a sign of authority and friends became better friends

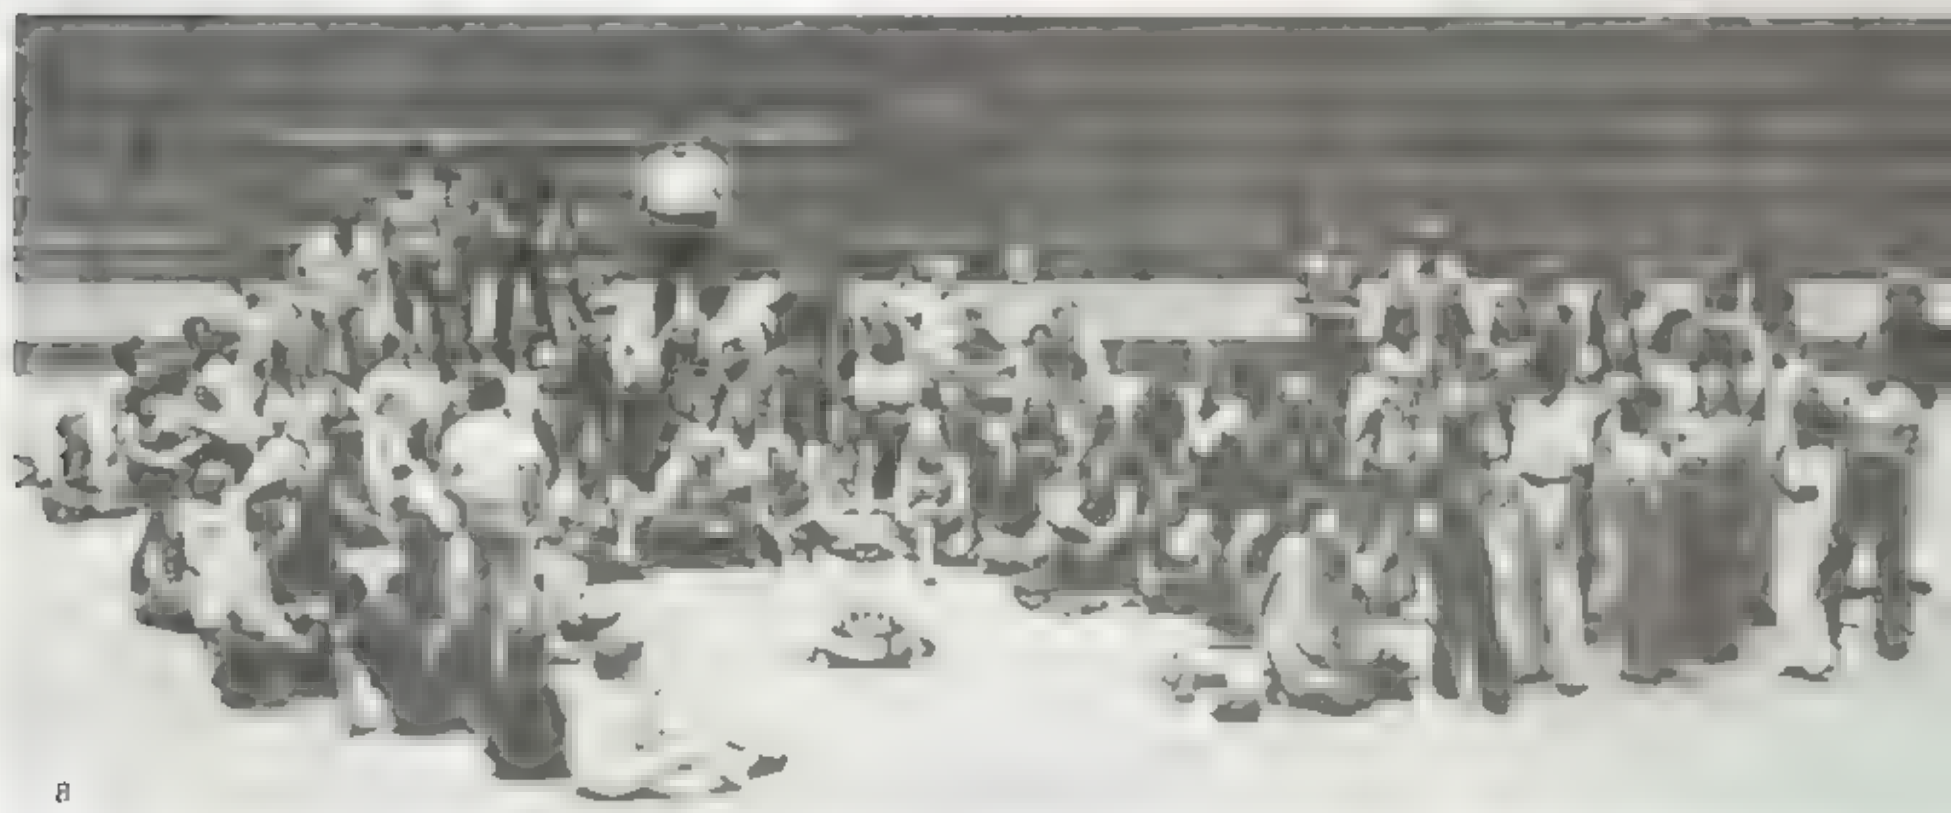

It was fair to say that the tradition of warm and close relationships felt by each band, flag, and pom-pom corp members officially began and flourished during band camp

The 1974 State Fair staff did their job well this past summer as illustrated by the High School band's accepting the number one position at the Indiana State Fair

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shauver and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ash headed the staff list by writing and directing the show. Bill Pierce arranged much of the music along with assisting in other areas where he was needed. Liz Shauver was in charge of the Flag Corps and John Hornline from Indiana University helped in teaching the Flag Corps some basic fundamentals and techniques. Vickie McWhorter was the director of the Pom-pom corps and Don Thompson helped out in any and every way possible. There were also many parents who assisted in the organizing of trips and chaperoning at contest and Band Camp

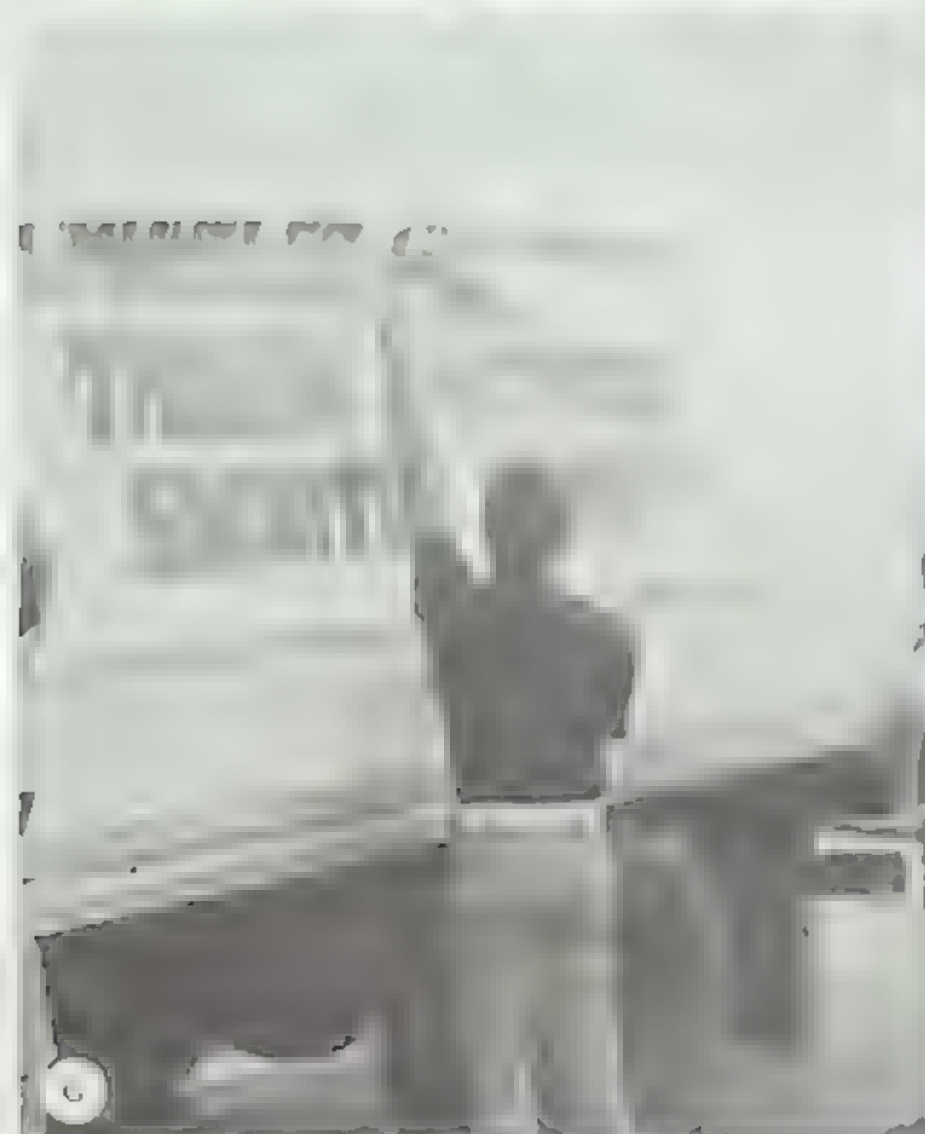

All together these people created the working atmosphere and proper conditions to make the show a sensation. Without these devoted people, and of course the hardworking band, nothing could have been accomplished

At Last We're Number 1

And now from Henry County ... Everyone was at the line. There were giggles of excitement, sweating palms, and pep talks going on inside the heads of each band member. Four whistles blew and the music began. All realization of activity outside the track was lost. All minds were centered upon doing the best job ever.

For the next three minutes and 45 seconds, life seemed to be a dream. Crowds were roaring and the lights were blinding. The past one hundred hours of practicing and band camp were finally combined and compacted into this most important performance. The cymbals marked the finale and the cadence carried the band off while the crowds applauded and cheered.

No matter how written, no one could ever recapture the exciting emotions felt by the 115 piece Trojan Marching Band. There was the painful anticipation of what was to come but no way of proving it. Then the announcement came and the triumphant cries were heard all across the field. Tears filled almost every band member's eyes. At last the intangible dream had come true.

Trojan Band Competes in Dixie

All the 150 bandmen, directors, and chaperones entered the Weir Cook Airport at 4:30 A.M. on Wednesday morning, February 12. Everyone tramped through the corridor and found their places on the floor. Some played cards, others played radios, and a few played harmonicas during the three hour wait due to packing, security, not to mention the flight delay because of the prevailing weather conditions. But after the few preliminary problems were finally taken care of, everything followed as planned.

The flight offered a hearty breakfast and much excitement for those who had never before been on a plane. There was slight turbulence during the flight, but other than that it was great.

At 9:30 A.M., the Delta jet landed in Tampa, Florida. It took a while for everyone to settle in the charter buses and after a four hour drive, the band arrived at the Del Prado Inn in Cape Coral. Everyone spent the rest of the day at leisure but it was followed by a hard workout Thursday to prepare for the field competition.

Thursday evening the band competed against ten other top performing bands from across the nation in the Edison Light field competition. Friday afternoon the band competed in the parade contest. On that same evening, the band was entertained by visiting the Waltzing Waters Light show in Cape Coral.

Saturday was a day for bathing beauties, sand, sun tans, and a few burns. Everyone enjoyed the beach, especially the search for unusual shells and water life. During that evening, the band participated in the Grand Parade at F. Myers where the band held its place as Honor Band. The finale for the evening was the award presentation in which the Trojan Marching Band received the Honor Award Trophy and an overall ranking of fifth place.

The trip was finished by two wonderful days in Orlando where the band enjoyed the beautiful sights of Disney World and also participated in the festive parade held there.

Upon returning home early Tuesday, February 18, everyone was exhausted and glad to find themselves returning to New Castle. The trip was worthwhile but everyone agreed with the traditional cliché "there's no place like home."

Changes Bring Improvement

For Chrysler High School, the past year was one of many changes. The several attempts for betterment touched most facets of school life. Taking the time to realize problems and making efforts to correct them contributed greatly to the success and progress of the school.

Basic areas of study were assigned to the different grade levels. This was done to make it easier to locate each student at all times of the day. It was also felt that the use of designated study areas opened the library and resource centers for specialized work. By obtaining a pass, one could select from a wide variety of study areas and many activities.

The concept of computer report cards was incorporated at the close of the first semester. This method of processing report cards was accepted with the intention of providing teachers with more time for professional duties instead of clerical work.

The school also experienced change for the sake of safety. Prevailing dangers in the bus loading area prompted the construction of a safer place in which to load and unload buses. The unusually high occurrence of tornadoes in Indiana during recent years called attention to the need for reducing the amount of glass in the building.

(E) Bill McIntyre uses his pocket calculator to assist him in a difficult equation.

(F) Embroidery work is a very popular activity at C.H.S. especially with Robin Kenda.

(G) After spending much time in the Biology lab, Cindy Loveless stares into space for a quick refresher.

Many students found a part time job offered valuable experience. Working was an excellent chance to learn responsibility. While accepting their new obligations, students met new people and increased their knowledge of life. Jobs allowed the chance to manage one's own money. Discovering how to budget and save was often a challenge with the rising prices.

Vocational students used their work as an opportunity to learn trades and gain experience in their fields. Functioning in their chosen field offered an appropriate chance to test their abilities and improve them.

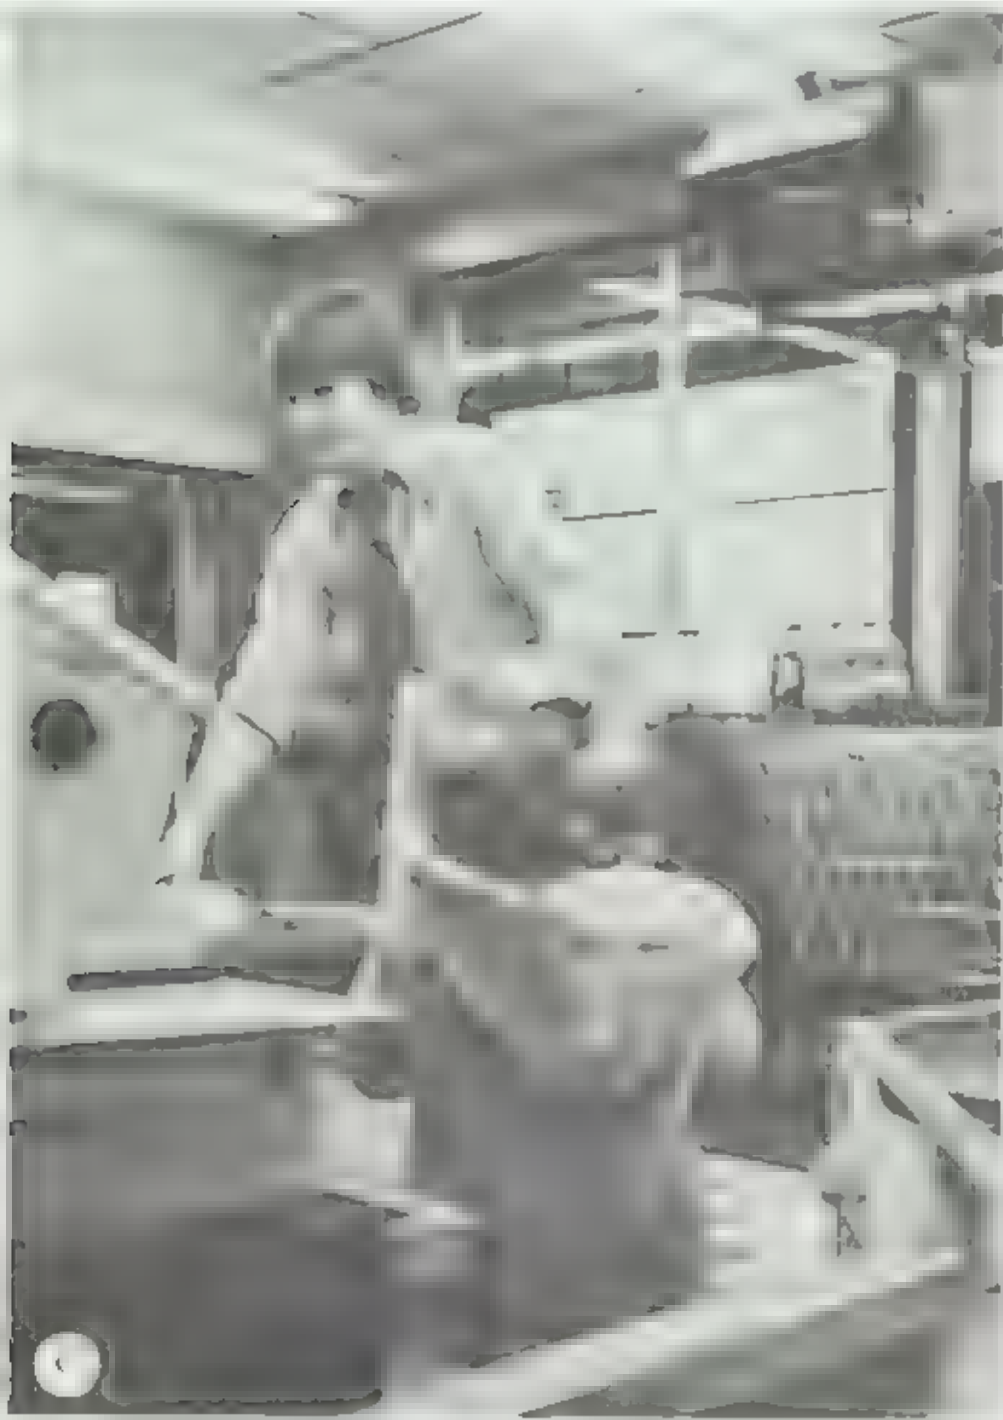

Taking a job meant devoting time without fail. For their time, students received the feeling of independence. Working was a learning process in dealing with one's own ideas as well as his own capabilities. It gave students the chance to understand and participate in the business world before they were actually committed to providing for themselves on a total basis.

Students Follow Their Own Interests

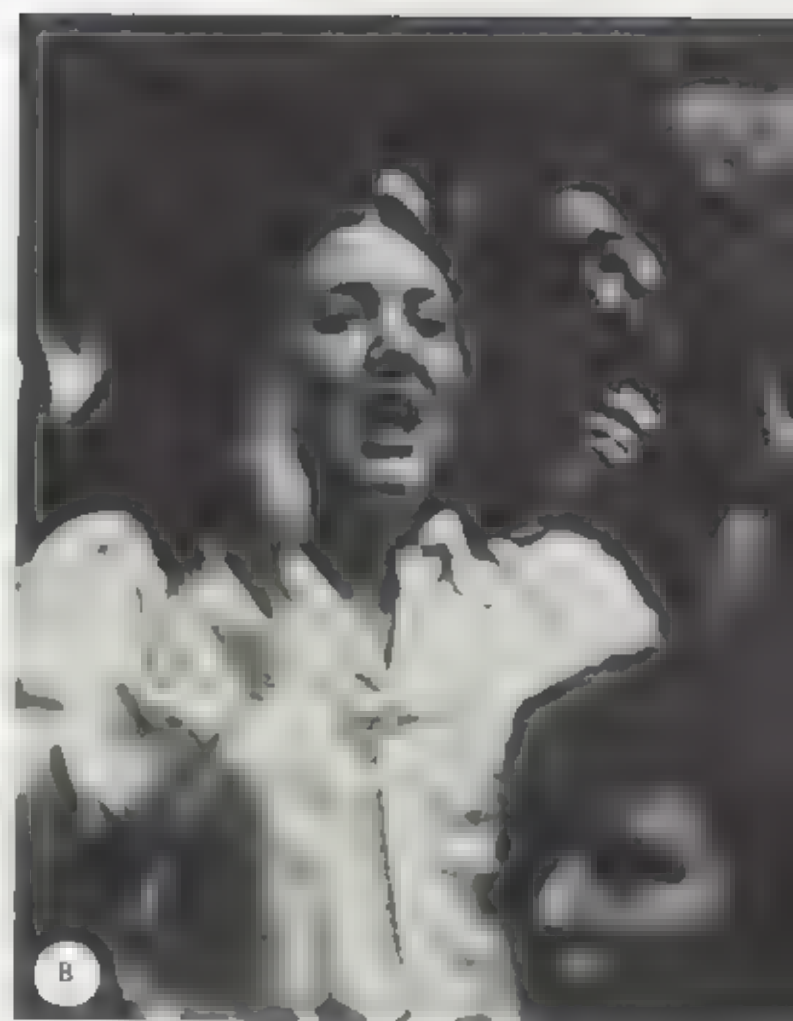

Discovering one's own interests and expanding with them adds a special element to life. Everyone has a need to express himself in an individual way. Developing to the fullest a chosen goal or that one special talent was an important accomplishment. The special discovery was not only self-satisfying but also found its way as a worthy contribution to others.

The many diverse combinations of talents were our most essential ingredients for success in all activities. Without the cooperation of each personality and contribution of their individual talent, our rewards and happiness would have been found far beyond our reach.

Each part of this mysterious niche was so different yet every part was needed to form a perfect balance. Building a boat, flying a plane and playing Beethoven's Concerto #4 were very self-satisfying. When these and other interests were brought together, they produced an atmosphere of eagerness both in and out of school.

Carpenters Perform in Fieldhouse

One of the most exciting events that happened at CHS this year was the incredible performance of Richard and Karen Carpenter along with the comedy team of Skyles and Henderson. The show began with a blast of applause as Skyles and Henderson jumped onto the stage. Their hilarious jokes and crazy antics were received with enormous rounds of laughter. They performed many imitations and even added their own touch of music.

For a moment there was a still silence and then a flash of light illuminated the fieldhouse. Everywhere cameras were flashing and people were talking in excited tones.

The whole band mysteriously appeared on the stage with Richard and Karen Carpenter. The music was playing and the sounds of the music filled the gym with one of the best musical groups ever recorded.

In order to raise enough money to allow the group to perform, tickets were sold in the community by CHS students. Each individual club and school organization sold the tickets to the public. A certain percentage of the profits was awarded to each school club in order to support them in their projects for the coming year. Filling the gym was a total of 5,715 people. The profit received by the clubs was $3,661.75.

Humor Takes Its Toll

School wasn't always a lot of studying, writing and memorizing. There were many crazy moments that happened not out of necessity but out of the natural environment

Hilarious antics not only occurred among the student population of CHS, but the teachers were also participants. Many times there seemed to be a competitive attitude between faculty and students as they each tried to outdo the other with their fantastic feats of unreality

Although school was taken for granted as merely a device for strict education, there were many times when humorous events were performed by the population of this school. This past year proved that learning can be enjoyable while fulfilling its purposes

(A) Santa Claus, Brent Grider, arrived early for two good little girls, Sherry Owens and Kathy Klipsch

(B) Showing that shoes express their own individuality are Rick Perdew, Bruce Atkinson, Tim Reagan, Brad Taylor, Rita Sanders, Queenie Buchanan, Jenny Coates, and Jody Ingerman.

(C) Mr. Langan Hay now officially realizes that blondes do have more fun!

Tower Takes Intramural Championship

Not everyone could participate in a major sport, but at Chrysler, the school has developed a way for everyone to be able to successfully become an athlete. Through intramural programs, many people had the chance to enjoy and play in a sport that they felt was valuable to their own personal growth and physical fitness as well

This year, Mr. Roscoe Rogers and Mr. Richard Hostetler were the sponsors of the boys' intramural basketball teams. The captains and their records were Tower 7-3, Kern 3-5, Craig 4-5, Fulton 3-5, Amonett 5-3, Judkins 7-2, Lines 5-5, and Lavarnway 1-7. The intramural squads not only competed against each other as in regular games but they also had finals and a championship. Tower's team won the championship for the 1974-75 season

(A) Intramural basketball captains were Terry Craig, Chane Tower, Danny Kern, Tom Judkins, Jim Lines, and Tracy Lavarnway. Not pictured are Doug Fulton and Randy Amonett

(B) Coaches for the intramural basketball teams are Mr. Roscoe Rogers and Mr. Richard Hostetler

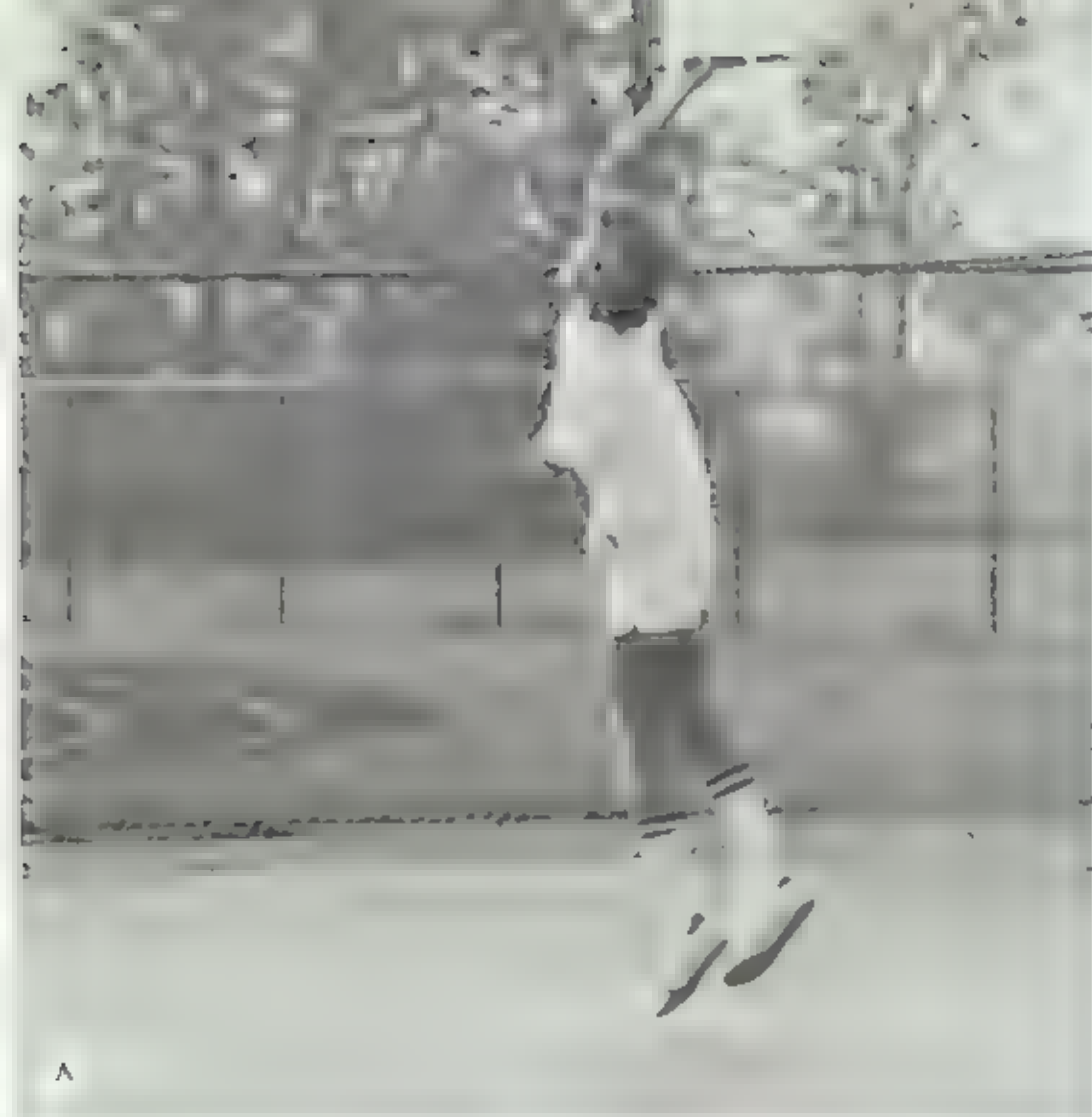

(C) Intramural basketball attracted many high school boys to participate in a fast moving sport

Students Expand Sports Interests

Students spent their extra time improving the technique of certain skills in their area of sport interest during the past year. Just practicing with the team did not always give sufficient time to work on personal problems and difficulties. Many hours of time were used for developing and progressing toward that never ending goal in which the best compensation would be success. Determination and desire could never exceed itself when a strong willed and stubborn athlete was at work.

Spectators and outsiders could not understand the reason behind such determination on the part of the student athlete, but the tremendous records of victory proved that the Trojan athlete had what it takes.

Understanding people could be considered the topic for the Social Studies curriculum this year.

Sociology students learned to deal with themselves and their relationship with others. Field trips were taken to the state hospital and two prisons. Two important symposiums were held on drug and alcohol abuse and law enforcement. Parties were given for state hospital residents, with gifts which were donated by students given away as prizes.

Mr. Langan Hay was new to government and economics classes. Students studied actual government cases and were given a chance to participate in government by going to City Council meetings.

Economics classes evaluated prices in the economy and researched a product study to decide which products were best for consumers. Two new teachers, Mr. Larry Meyer and Mr. William Thompson were seen in U.S. History as classes tried to relate past historical events to the problems of today.

New books and new ideas were added to help improve the foreign language department

French classes stressed conversation and participation, along with the aspects of French culture and history

Spanish students worked with skits and language fluency, along with the traditional celebration of Jose Marti's birthday

Latin students studied Roman culture, and translated many passages during the year to increase their knowledge of the language

A new idea in Spanish was the beginning of the Hispanic Honorary Society, which gave recognition of academic excellence and superior performance in Spanish

Language clubs had new ideas to keep members interested and continuing to learn more about the countries related to their particular language

A few Latin students visited Rome over spring vacation at their own expense. This event was sponsored by Junior Classical League

With Additions and Improvement

The English department proved that experience counts as many improvements were made in the new phase elective program which moved into its second year. One improvement was the addition of more difficult phase 5 level courses.

Courses such as Philosophies of Life, Logic, Death and Dying, and Mortality were added for college preparatory students.

Students were given the chance to come into the classroom during independent modules and become involved in extra activities related to that class.

Special emphasis was placed on counseling so that students would select English courses which they needed to help them in later life.

Mrs. Judith Sorrell and Mr. Dennis Eller were the new teachers within the department.

Mathematics Expands to Meet Greater Needs

Algebra, Geometry, and Analysis were college preparatory courses offered by the math department this year. Along with these came such courses as mechanical math which was instituted into some of the vocational education classes. Students as always worked with slide rules, logarithms, graphs, and proofs.

The SRC room became important to the math students as they found calculators and reference materials at their disposal. Math teachers also were available for the students who just didn't understand or who needed extra help.

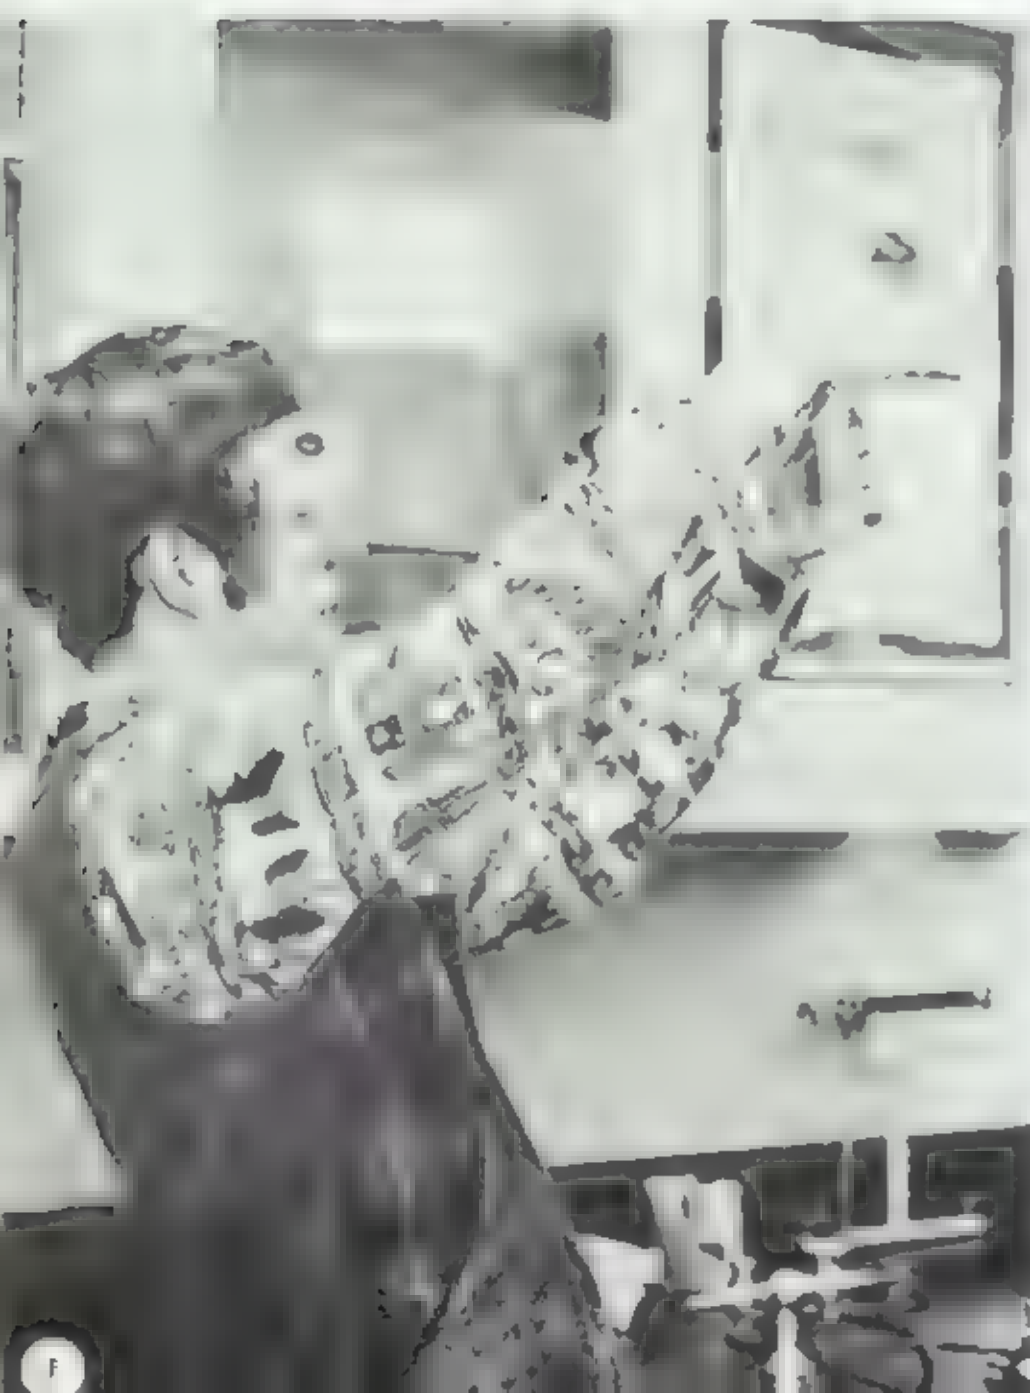

Students applied their talents and interests outside of the classroom by making projects. Students came up with such projects as quilts, string designs, and house models. Mr. Wayne Akey's classes got into the Christmas spirit by making geometric models for Christmas decorations.

 (F) John Acker measures a chemical
 (G) Students work hard in Lab

Change was in the science department this year. Biology students found themselves choosing their test days. The greenhouse was revived, and improvements were made in the lab.

Early in the year, physics students went to see a Powerama in Indianapolis. Biology students excursed to Mary Gray Bird Sanctuary.

Students were assigned to the science resource center for two modules a week for outside-the-classroom study and self-improvement in science.

All classes worked in the lab this year. Chemistry students were measuring acids, while Biology students dissected worms and frogs. Labs were designed to meet the students' interests while still teaching the basic principles of science.

Talented Students Strive for Excellence

The music department at CHS offered the student many different opportunities this year as teachers sought to encourage excellence in every field of music.

The band had many regular activities such as concerts, half-time routines and special events. They also spent several months raising money to take a Florida trip where they performed their State Fair winning routine.

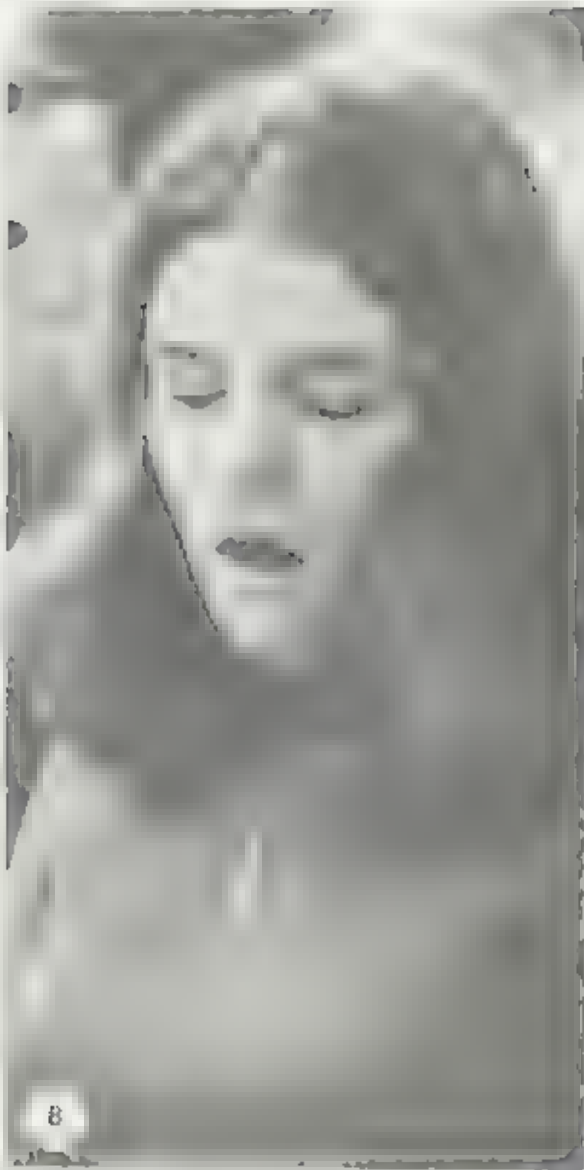

A new project within the music department, was the Madrigal dinner consisting of food and music portraying the renaissance era. Some students participated in the Community choir which performed Handel's "Messiah."

Choral groups took tours and participated in the Spring Sing. The music history and literature students worked in class transcribing medieval ligatures.

Orchestra offered many opportunities to its students as talented members of this group practiced during class or after school, depending upon their area of music. These sounds were put together to make a complete ensemble.

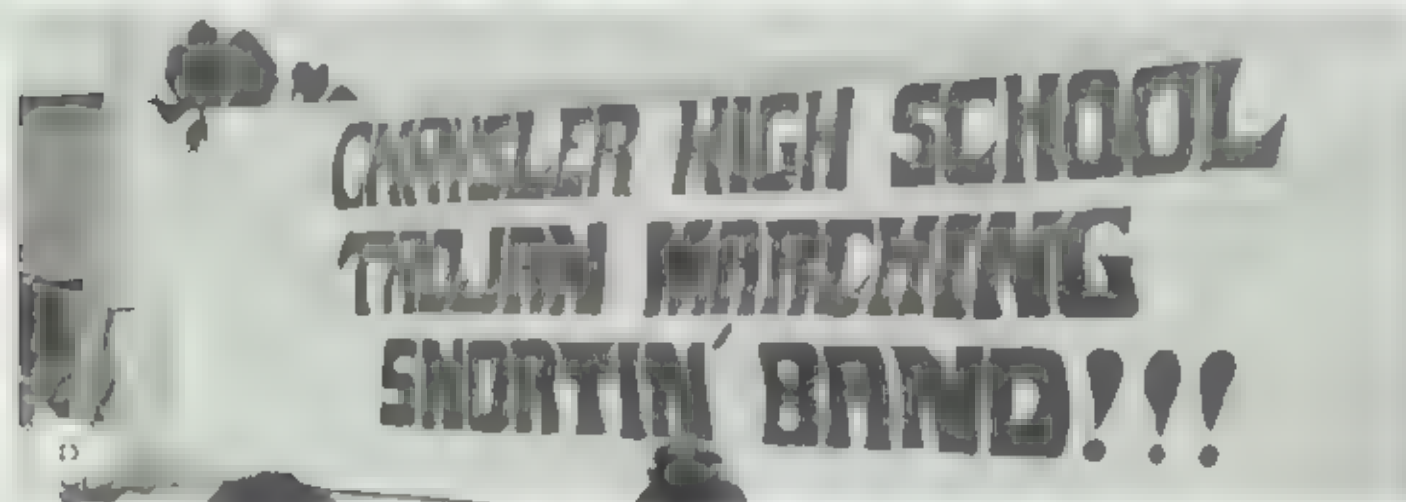

The full orchestra presented an elementary concert in each elementary school and a spring concert in Bundy Auditorium.

In each area, goals were centered around the musical growth of the individual with opportunity for students to participate in solo and ensemble auditions on a state wide basis.

Art, Special Ed. Encourage Individuality

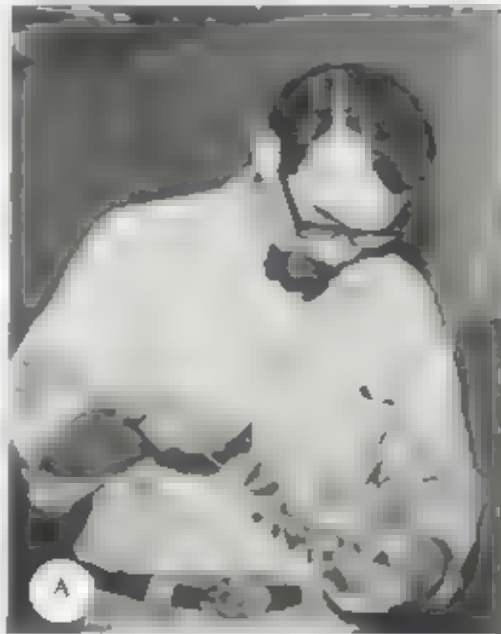

One hundred sixty-two enthusiastic students were enrolled in three levels of art classes this year. Art 21-22 was designed for beginners, Art 31-32 for more advanced students, and Art 41-42 for experienced students wanting independent work.

The students worked on pottery, jewelry making, sculptures, paintings and sketches. Many students also worked on signs and posters. Silkscreen prints were exciting creations, and some students were able to sell their silkscreens.

The art students participated in the L.S. Ayres Art Show, and the Courier Times Patio Show. Mr. William Zeigler, taught the art classes with the help of an experienced art aide, Mrs. Pat Millis.

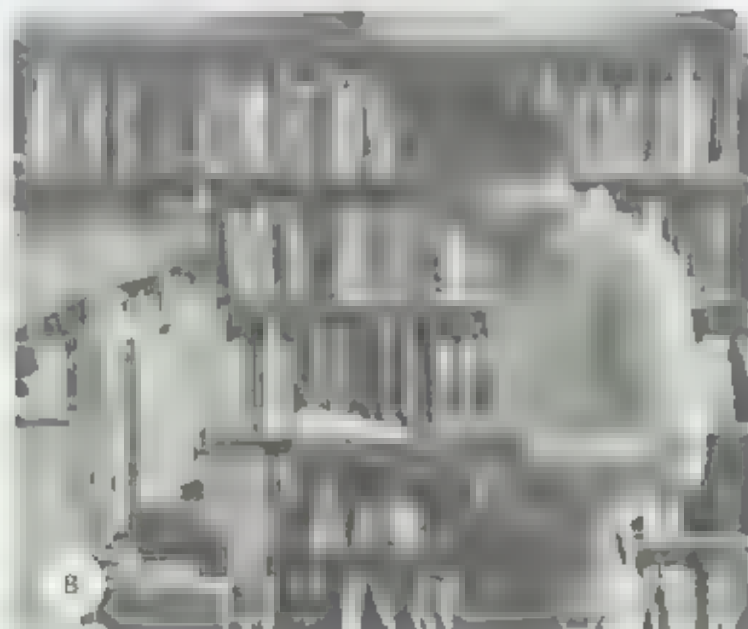

Special Education was a new group at Chrysler High School this year, as they formerly were at the seventh grade building.

There were fourteen students from the ages of fifteen to eighteen. Two of the students attended Parkview Junior High, and four of the students were full time Practical Vocational Education students. Mrs. Karen Ditty was their teacher.

Library Expands to 17,000 Books

Enthusiastic use of microfilm or the reader printer has brought past sport events alive. Students have also researched campaign funding and inflation dating back to 1962

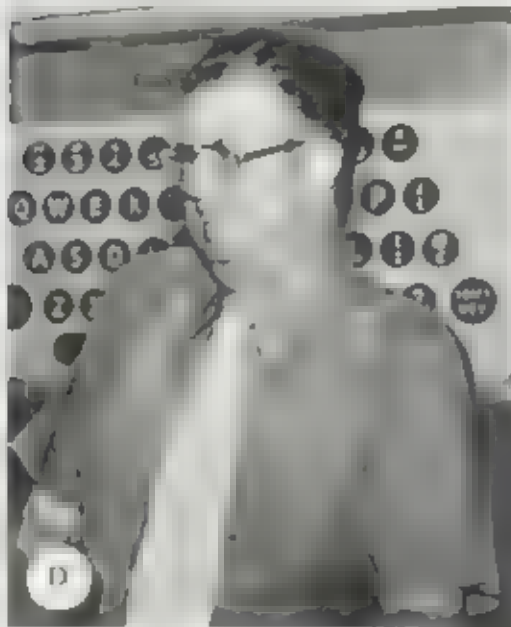

More individual help has been given to students through changed regulations for library use. Many classes met in the library for the purpose of gathering material for discussion and writing projects or to read. Students were able to select from approximately 17,150 books and magazines.

 (I) Mrs. Dorothy Golliher B.S., M.A., Business Education
 (J) The advanced typing class enjoys their work on electric typewriters

Electric typewriters were used for the first time in all beginning and personal typing classes. Business Law classes reported once a week to the Chrysler High School Library to read articles about current class materials. This helped them better understand the textbook materials they were studying in class.

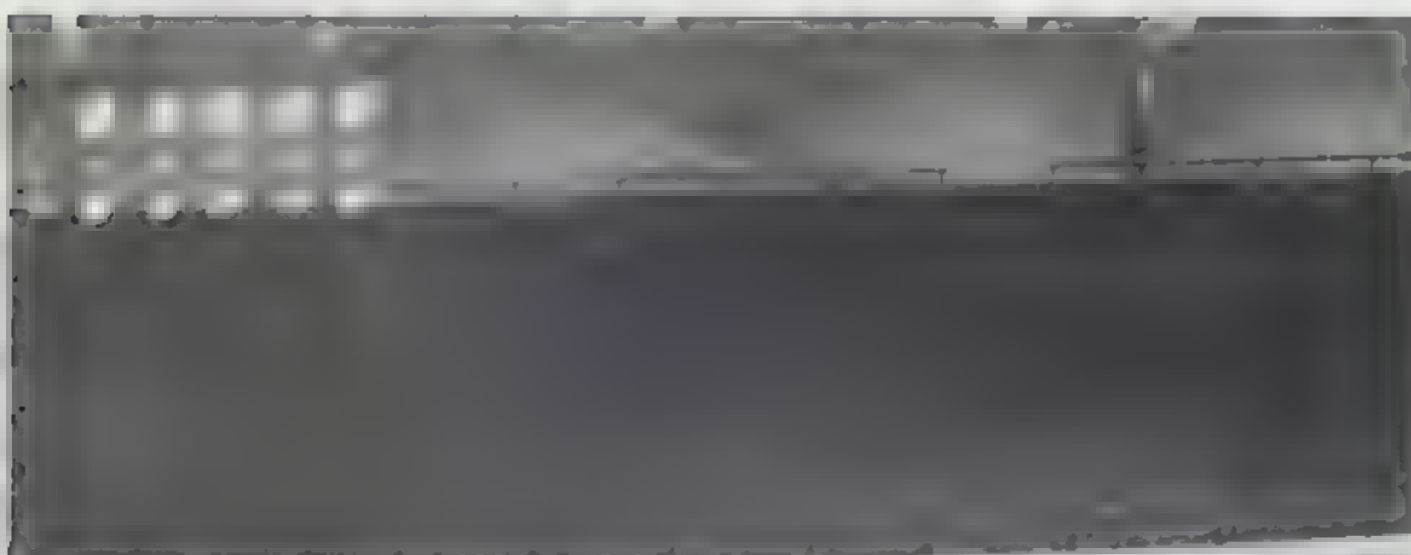

A new IBM Memory Typewriter was purchased for use in the Intensive Office Lab. Everyone found it fascinating to see it type 180 words per minute with no errors, hour after hour, when several copies were needed of the same material.

For the first time, the Business Department teachers selected the top ten business students, and they were honored at the end of the school year. All together, 953 students were enrolled.

P.E. Students Test Muscular Strength, Earn Awards

All 478 sophomores took physical education three days a week under the supervision of Mrs. Janet Manning, Mr. Wilbur Veach, and Mr. Cecil Tague.

The boys' physical education classes participated in touch football, tennis, soccer, volleyball and basketball. Girls competed in archery, volleyball, shuffleboard, gymnastics, ping pong, tennis and basketball. Classes sometimes joined for co-ed instruction as the teachers worked as a team.

In the fall and spring, the students took the President's physical fitness tests. These seven tests were designed to test muscular strength. The test consisted of sit-ups, flexed arm hang, softball throw, extending broad jump, fifty yard dash, 600 yard run, and the shuttle run. Awards were given at the end of the school year to those with the best scores.

Students Redecorate Home Ec. Department

Home economics students have discovered how to redecorate a home, how to manage their money, and how to make it stretch. Some of the students redecorated four rooms with chairs and tables, while many others learned to sew and cook to perfection.

There were also many students involved in Home Economics Related Occupations, known as HERO. In this program, the students attended school half-days, and had on-the-job training.

The boys learned to make their own meals, budget their money, and survive in bachelor living. Mrs. Phyllis Klipsch moved from the Junior High as the new department chairman this year and Mrs. Geraldine Harter was a new staff member. Also, assisting the staff in the Home Economics department were Mrs. Mildred Garner and Miss Muzetta Guymon. Approximately 300 students were enrolled.

Industrial, Vocational Education on the Move

Chrysler High School this year was one of the five participating schools in the Area Vocational School, and most of the classes were taught here. Hagerstown, Knights-town, Tri High, and Union were the other participating schools.

Industrial Education had twenty different classes which included Building Trades, Building Maintenance, Pre-Engineering, Drafting, Survey Class, Machine Shop, Electricity, Electronics, Metals, Woods, Power and Transportation and Practical Vocational Education. The advanced classes were Auto Mechanics, Drafting 41-42, and Electronics 41-42. P.V.E. was a class which allowed students to learn to do a specific job, then when they had learned that job, they received more training on-the-job.

Health Occupations advanced to full time training. Vocational Building Trades for the second straight year built a house, located at 2711 Bronson Drive.

Counselors Offer Guidance to Many Students

The Counseling Department reorganized this year with the addition of a new full time staff member, Mrs. Ann Poer. Now three of the four counselors are full time. Because of the addition, they were able to help more students meet their needs.

To better understand the student, the counseling staff sent out a "needs analysis form," to students and parents. This was a questionnaire asking what students would like to see in the counseling center.

Scheduling college and career choices were, of course, on the list of things to help students.

- (G) Mr. Lehr talks with Dr. Turchan about the new bus loading area

The administration took an in-depth look at the school and school system this year. The school was evaluated by the North Central Evaluation Committee. In preparation for them, studies were conducted to find out what was lacking at CHS. The administration set up committees consisting of students, parents, and teachers to evaluate CHS. They went to last year's seniors and asked them what classes had helped them in preparing for college and what they thought CHS needed. When the community voiced its wants, the administration listened. Then, change was applied where they believed it was most needed.

The school took on a new look. Much of the glass on the building was replaced by metal panels to provide safety and conserve heat. A safer bus loading area was built.

CHS Secretaries Prove Their Efficiency

Secretaries helped to keep the school running smoothly. They handled all paper work, telephone calls and duplicating material. All CHS secretaries were under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Porter, office manager and secretary to Mr. Lehr. In the general office, Mrs. Edith Ingram served as receptionist and switch board operator, Mrs. Cheryl Razor took care of all attendance, and Mrs. Margaret Williams was secretary to the counselors and handled all student records.

Across the hall in the athletic office, Mrs. Jewel Thornhill was athletic secretary and Mrs. Nancy Craig was the school's bookkeeper. In the Vocational Education wing, Mrs. Margaret Bow was industrial arts secretary, Mrs. Georgette Pope was practical arts secretary and Mrs. Brenda Leduc was on a temporary assignment to the vocational department.

Cafeteria, Custodians, Aids Help CHS Run Smoothly

The cafeteria staff met the challenge of feeding the student body with new and exciting ideas this year. Students found the food much improved over previous years. New ideas like toothpicks in the sandwiches and olives on the side made the food more attractive. The cafeteria introduced something completely new when milk shakes were added to the plate lunch. The Trojan plate also was added to give the students three different choices.

The CHS custodial staff helped keep CHS clean and orderly. This year they had an unusually difficult job as they tried to keep the classrooms clean while construction was underway.

Teachers aids helped the teachers when the load was too much. They supervised study areas and the cafeteria. There were aids in the library, art classes, the SRC room and the cafeteria.

"We are not afraid of tomorrow for we have seen yesterday and we love today." This was the motto for the class of 1975. The Seniors chose as their class colors, burgandy and ivory and the ivory rose as their class flower. Seniors reached the point in their lives when they had many decisions lying heavily on their shoulders. After graduation, seniors had to choose whether they were going to continue their education, go to work, get married, go into the military service, or tackle the problem of unemployment.

During the school year of 1974-1975, seniors achieved many goals and honors. This year out of a class of 345, 17 students received honor jackets with 32 students receiving crests.

There were also many other awards and scholarships given to outstanding athletes, musicians, homemakers and mechanics this year.

The members of this class looked to the past and examined their achievements and looked to the future in hope of obtaining new goals. This was just a part of how the class of '75' came alive.

Juniors Become Involved

The spirited class of '76 began another year at CHS looking forward to a new involvement as juniors. Their first responsibility was the election of class officers. The elected president was Jim Stawick, with Kelly Woodward, vice-president; Debbie Crisp, secretary; and Amy Danielson, treasurer. Juniors united again as a class to face the task of planning Prom, and as a result, it was a great success.

Many juniors found their class load to be quite a challenge, requiring much more of their time, yet they also came to accept the seriousness of school. As the year went on, the junior class realized more than ever that participation was the key to their greatest accomplishments at CHS.

Extra-curricular activities such as sports, clubs and jobs enabled juniors to reach personal goals, as well as gain the satisfaction of getting involved. Outside activities provided enjoyment and relaxation, and gave the juniors the chance to meet new people.

Bruce Wadman Elected Sophomore President

The class of '77 took its first step into high school this year with new ideas and added responsibilities. One such obligation was to elect class officers. Named president of the sophomore class was Bruce Wadman, along with vice-president Todd Thalls, secretary Jill Woodward, and treasurer Terri Poor. Sophomores also chose their class rings and began to become involved in organizations and clubs. Some of the clubs largely constructed of sophomores were Pep club, Thespians, and Intramurals. The class of '77 also occupied a large portion of the State Fair winning band. With 469 members, they have the largest class

As the year went by, the class became more and more independent and was looked upon by upperclassmen for opinions. The class of '77 has established itself at CHS and looks forward to two more years at high school.

Trojan Golfers Finish Season at 9-6

The Varsity linksmen, coached by Jerry Koger, kept the winning tradition by golfing their way to a hard-earned 9-6 record this past season. The competition was rugged for the first five positions on varsity as eight players battled all season for a top spot.

New Castle's number one man this season was senior David Macer who was also selected as the Most Valuable Player on the team. Junior Tom Fike and senior Tim Davis played second and third men respectively for the Trojans, while senior Mike Schofield, juniors Mike Hagerty and Bob Hamilton and sophomore Dan Coleman all played competitively on the varsity level. Fike and Macer were co-captains and Coleman received the Most Improved Golfer award this past season for the Trojan golfers.

New Castle placed fourth in the Sectional meet just missing qualifying as the first three teams move on to the Regional and then to state. Individually for the linksmen in Sectional competition, Tom Fike placed fourth, missing by one spot to qualify him for the Regional.

Other members of the team this season were as follows: juniors Mike Adams, Tom Judkins, Jeff Rucker, Scott Shaffer and Steve Franklin; sophomores Bob Caffoe, Brett Strukel, and Jeff Vawrinek and freshman Todd Thalls. Although the linksmen lose three graduating seniors, they will still have five remaining team members who played on the varsity level this past season coming back.

Trackmen Take Noblesville Invitational

New Castle thinlies had a tough season as injuries and a young team hurt the Trojans. The track team, coached by Wilbur Veach, finished 1-3 in dual meets and third in a three-way meet. The highlight of the season was winning the Noblesville invitational. The only win was against county rival Shenandoah by a score of 74-53. The reserves also finished 1-3 by defeating Shenandoah

At the tough North Central conference meet, the thinlies placed eighth with senior Rex Peckinpaugh placing second in the shot put and fifth in the discus. Also, senior Dave Turner was second in the discus and senior Terry Bowers fifth in the mile. During the season, junior Bob Boyd lowered the 100 yard dash record to 9.95.

In sectional competition, the team scored sixth out of thirty-one. Individually Peckinpaugh placed fourth in the shot put, Bowers was fourth in the mile, and Boyd ranked fourth in the 100 yard dash.

Baseballers Sidelined in Sectional

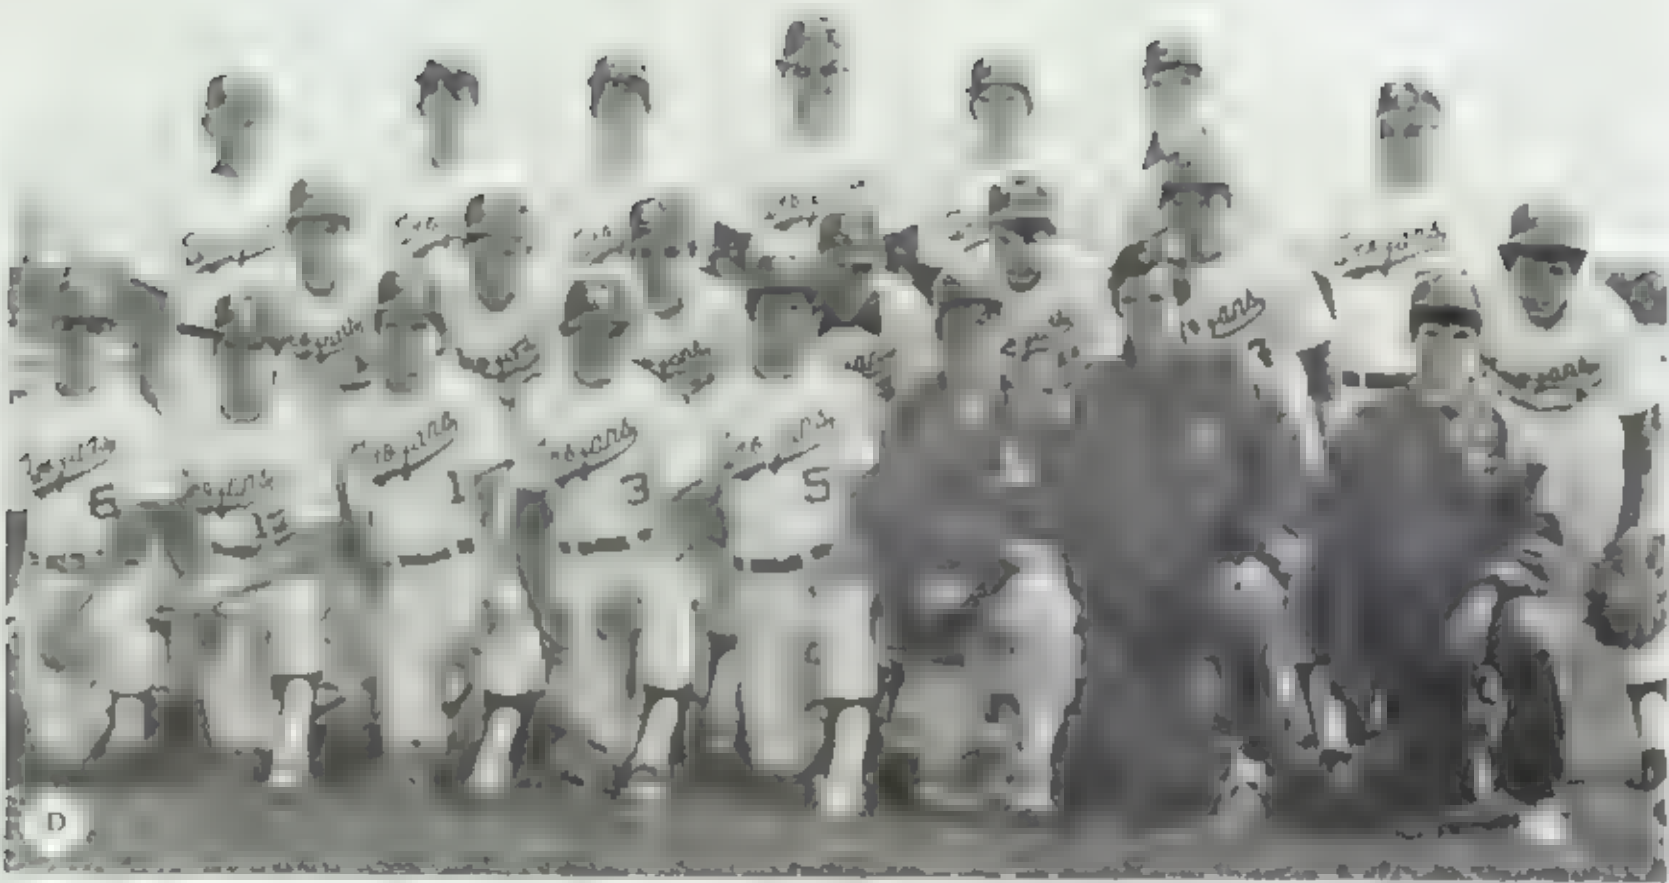

The young Trojan baseballers of 1974 finished the season with a seven win, sixteen loss record. Coach Rex Brooks assisted by Bill Wilt went with a young team for the future as there were only seven returning lettermen, all seniors. The remainder of the team was made up of four juniors, six sophomores, and two freshmen who also saw B-team action

The squad had a three game winning streak going with a close 12 to 11 victory over conference foe Anderson and then swept a double-header from Greenfield Central 11 to 3 and 4 to 1. The team clobbered sectional rival Tri High 12 to 4 as four home runs were hit in the game. Other victories were scored over Brookville, Knightstown, and Rushville.

In the tough North Central Conference the Trojan nine failed to beat any other team except Anderson. The Trojans were sidelined early in the Sectional by a fine Shenandoah team who went on to take the tourney championship. Leading the team were seniors Jay Heck, Jeff Thurman, Jim Martin, Steve Tucker, and Sam Polson.

The B-Team compiled a 5-6 record under first year coach Lance Rhodes

Young Trojan Harriers Post 7-5 Mark

This year's young varsity cross country team finished its season with a fine 7-5 record. The Trojan harriers were led by sophomore Craig McGrew who placed first in all but two dual meets this season. Senior Rondal Bertram and sophomore Doug Morris also added needed strength up front for the balanced but young Trojans. The harriers' rugged schedule consisted of only three home meets out of twelve events run this year.

As a team, the Trojans placed sixth in the conference meet and fourth in the sectional to qualify them for the regional meet at Richmond. Although this was a winning season, things should be on the upswing next year for Coach Wilbur Veach as he loses only three seniors in Rondal Bertram, Tony Wright, and Tom Judkins, and has nine returning lettermen in juniors Brett Ray, Jim Eckerty and Steve Shopp and sophomores Craig McGrew, Doug Morris, Bob Smith, Charlie Davis, Kevin Hart and John Row.

Trojan Netters Fall Into 'Bad Racket'

The Trojan varsity tennis team ran into a losing "racket" this season and came away with one lone victory while posting a 1-11 seasonal mark. It was a rebuilding season as the varsity squad had only two returning lettermen in senior Dave McCaslin and junior Greg Rose from last year's winning team. Co-captains for this year's team were Rose and McCaslin who also were the number 1-2 players respectively.

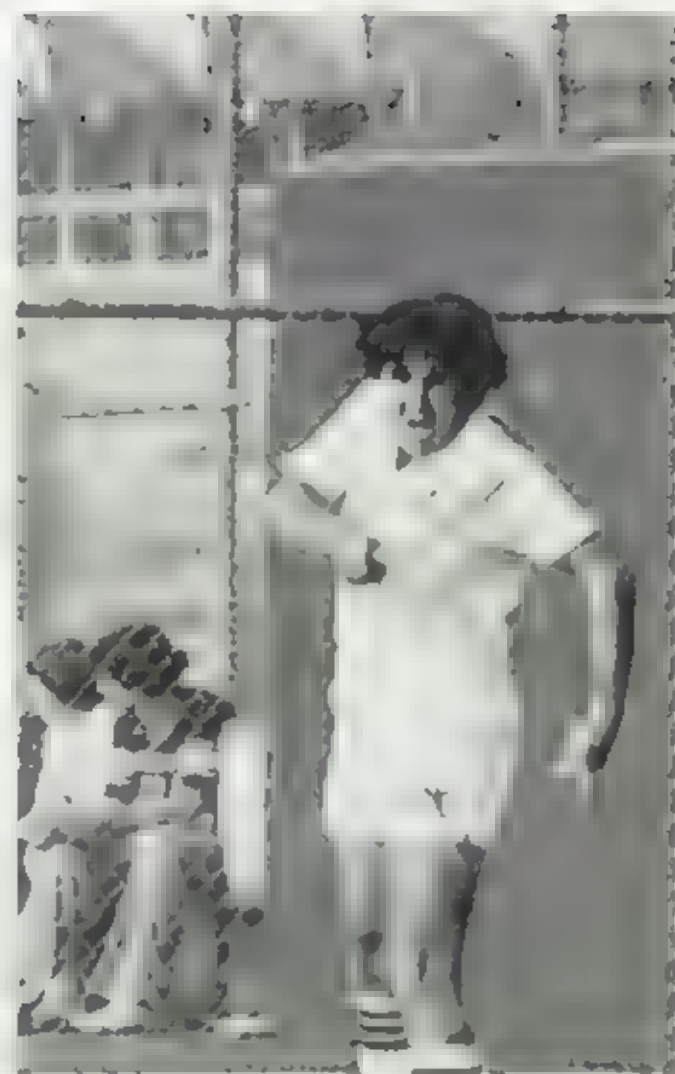

Other members of the squad this year that received varsity letters were junior Doug Bowers and sophomores John Karp and John Cashdollar. Seniors Brad Woods and Stuart Garvin also saw limited varsity action this year for the Trojan netters. Greg Rose, who registered the best seasonal record for the Trojans at 5-7, was also selected to the NCC all-conference squad. Of the five players receiving varsity letters this year, the team loses only one by graduation for next fall's squad.

Trojan Matmen Win Columbus Tourney

The varsity wrestling team posted its best seasonal mark in many years as the team fought its way to an excellent 10-1-1 dual meet record. Led by senior co-captains Jim Barr and Mike Raines, the Trojan grapplers lost but one match to Noblesville and tied another with sectional champ Richmond.

Competing for the third time since Lance Rhodes took over as coach, the varsity wrestlers walked away with first place team honors and six individual firsts in the tough eight team Columbus Invitational. In conference action, the Trojans placed third, just ten points behind the team champion Logansport and five points back of runner-up Marion.

Individuals winning for the Trojans were Jim Stawick, Mike Raines and Jim Barr with runners-up being Mike and Pat Cook. New Castle placed second in sectional competition, five points back of Richmond, as they qualified seven individuals — four champions and three runners-up. Stawick 20-3-1, Mike Goodpaster 15-6, Raines 23-1, and Barr 18-1-1 were all champions. Jeff Frost 11-9, Pat Cook 15-8, and Phil Jolley 12-8 were sectional runners-up. Other members of this year's varsity squad and their records were Bruce Painter 16-5-1, Mike Cook 14-6, Bob Bunton 10-8, Alan Neal 12-8, Walter Turnbull 13-7, and Chuck Sumpter 8-11. The Trojans didn't fare as well in regional action as they placed fifth as a team and had only two runners-up in Jim Stawick and Mike Raines.

Great, Green Tidal Wave Rolls On

The Great, Green Tidal Wave rolled along to the finest dual meet record in New Castle's swimming history. The tankers ended the season with eleven wins and only four setbacks. The men set personal and team goals before the season started and nearly all of them were achieved as seven school records were broken. Improvement and dedication were key words to the team's success as they practiced twice a day, 6:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. until their first meet.

There were many season highlights, but the one that stood out was the tankers' first place in the Marion Relays. New Castle won the last event to outscore Carmel, 92-90. Six other teams were in the competition.

The young tankers entered conference with high hopes but placed a disappointing sixth at the conference meet and sixth in the sectional.

School record holders were Scott Larrison in the 200 freestyle, 200 IM, and the 100 backstroke; Jim Lauer in the 100 butterfly; Jeff Sahlberg in the 500 freestyle; Chris Olson in diving; and the 200 medley relay team of Jim McNelis, Don Gehlert, Kevin Keith, and Jerry Wade.

Co-captains were senior Kevin Keith and junior Don Gehlert. Senior David Olson was the diving captain.

Tough Opponents Overwhelm Trojan

An extremely tough schedule proved to be too much for the Trojans as they posted a 7-15 record. A pre-season rating listed the Trojans as having the second toughest schedule in the state. Eleven of the regular season teams that New Castle played were ranked in the top twenty at one time or another.

The Trojans opened the season with three straight victories over Knightstown, North Central, and Highland. North Central eventually won the Marion County championship. Other foes defeated by New Castle were Muncie South, Noblesville, and Shelbyville. Many games found the Trojans battling to the wire with ranked opponents, Madison Heights, Jeffersonville, Winchester, and Anderson. The Jeffersonville game was won at the gun on a last second shot.

Individually for the Troymen, senior Tom Fike led all scorers with a 16.0 average and a .492 field goal average. Tom also had the top free throw percentage with a .736 clip. Top rebounder again was Tom with a total of 206 rebounds. Senior Rondal Bertram led the team in recoveries with 74. The top assist-man this year was junior Tim Reagan with 73 assists in twenty-two games.

Tague Ends Trojan Coaching Years

The loss to Tri High in this year's sectional marked the end of nine years of Trojan basketball under Coach Cecil Tague. Mr. Tague resigned on Jan. 20, 1975, after coaching some of the best teams in New Castle and Chrysler High School history. This includes the best season record ever posted by a New Castle team which was 25-3 in 1967.

Mr. Tague's record speaks for itself — five sectional crowns, two regional crowns and two appearances in the Final Four. He also coached the school's only undisputed North Central Conference championship. His teams have had four twenty game winning seasons. Mr. Tague coached New Castle's only Mr. Basketball, Kent Benson, and Trester Award winner, Jerry Lamberson. He also has had ten all-conference selections under his guidance and two conference scoring champs.

One desire that Coach Tague has always had is that every one of his players furthers his education at the college level, and he has seen several players attain success. In his years as head coach, Mr. Tague not only developed players, he developed boys into men.

Reserves Take Holiday Tourney

Basketball was the game and winning was the name as the Junior Varsity posted a successful 12-8 campaign. The Colts had a six game winning streak going during the midseason which was ended by an overtime loss to Marion. Larry Meyer's charges captured the holiday tourney championship for the first time in many years. The B-team defeated Richmond in the afternoon 42-40 and downed Anderson in the championship game 48-45.

This year's team consisted of two juniors and ten sophomores. Bob Caffoe, David Gibson, and David Smith, and John Wittler, members of the Varsity also saw B-team action. Mark Boatright played both Varsity and J.V. towards the end of the season. The Colts accredited many a win to the varsity players being brought down to play. The blend of experienced varsity players and sophomores fresh out of Junior High proved to be a successful combination.

Football Team Has Improved 4-6 Season

Posting the best record since the 1970 season, the 1974 football team ended the campaign with a 4-6 record. The gridgers under the direction of third-year coach Twyman Patterson battled to a 3-4 record in the rugged North Central Conference. This was the best conference mark in many years.

Pre-season polls rated the Lafayette Broncos 18th in the state, but the Trojans proved to be too much for the Broncs as they were soundly defeated 29-7 to open the season. In the next two weeks the footballers fell to South Central Conference rivals Connerville and Rushville. The Trojans came back and narrowly defeated Muncie Central 12-6. Next was Richmond, and New Castle held the state-playoff bound Devils 23-8. The gridgers got back on the winning trail by trouncing Anderson 31-0 and edged Muncie South 14-6. The Trojan Eleven ended up losing the last three games to conference powerhouses Logansport, Marion, and Kokomo.

Individually for the Trojans, junior Tim Reagan ended up third in the conference scoring race with 56 points. For his efforts Reagan received all-conference honorable mention. Senior Mike Raines was selected all-conference offensive guard and senior Jim Barr was selected all-conference linebacker. At the end of the year, Raines was named Trojan of the year and senior Jeff Dickerson received the most improved player award. Barr was outstanding defensive player and Reagan was outstanding offensive player. Sophomore Ken Melton was given the demonstration squad member-of-the-year award for the 1974 season. These awards were presented at the fall sports banquet.

B-Team Works Hard, Gains Experience

Victory was hard to come by for the Junior Varsity football team as they finished with two wins against six defeats. In many games, Coaches Keith Mercer, David Pryor, and Lance Rhodes were forced to juggle the line-up in order to field the best team. Many "B" starters were limited in playing time because they also dressed on the varsity for the Friday game.

The highlights of the season were the victories over Muncie South 6-2 and Rushville 31-30. The Colts led at the half 25-0 in the Rushville game but had to hold off a strong Lion comeback. The Junior Varsity also dropped a close one to Greenfield 14-13. Standouts on the team were sophomores Ken Melton, Pat Cook, and Mark Boatright.

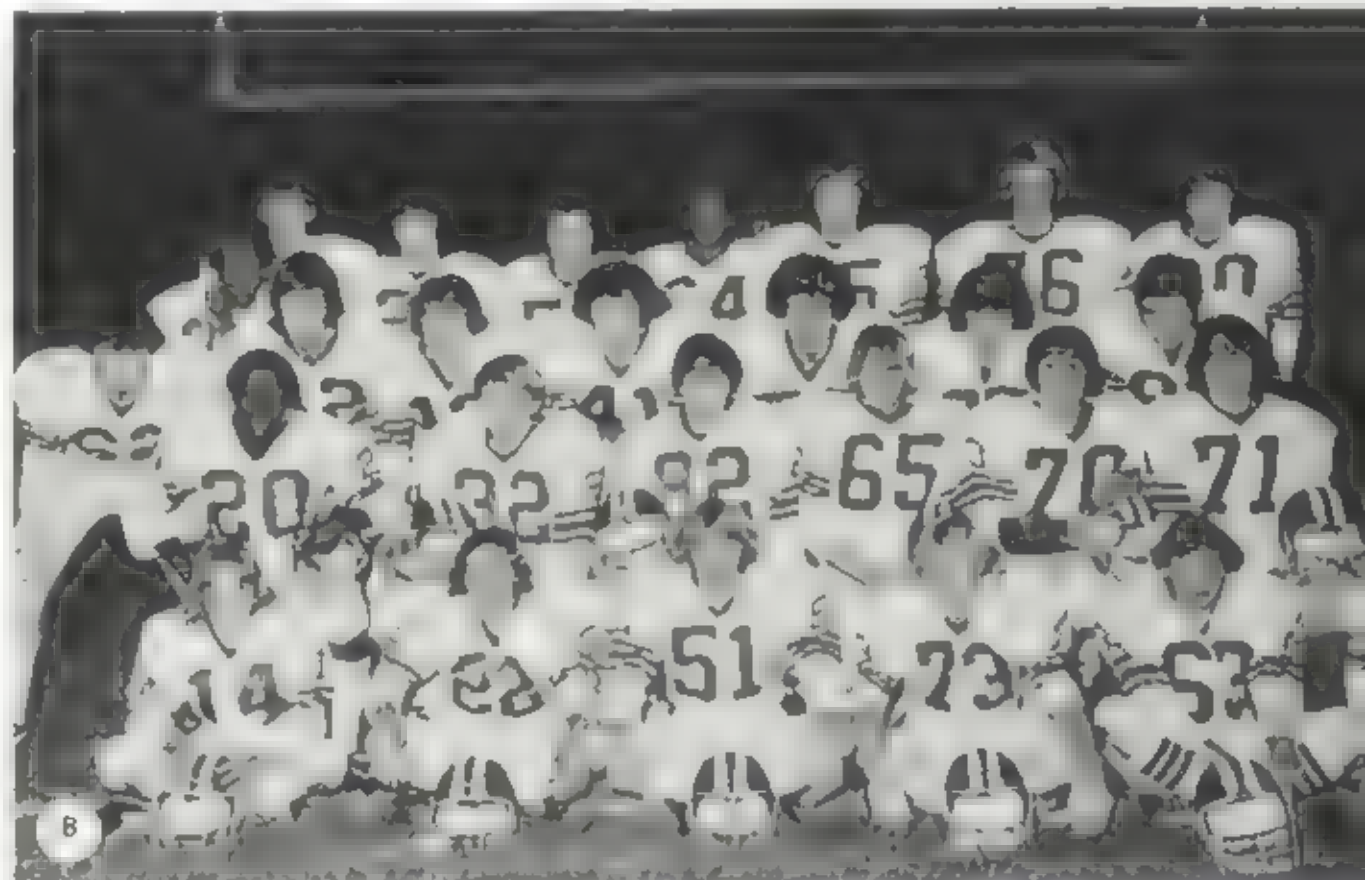

The B-team received valuable playing experience which will help the players in 1975. They will form a nucleus for next year's team.

Girl Netters Go to State, Have 8-1 Season

Members of the girls' tennis team played their way to a fine 8-1 record this past season for Head Coach Janet Manning. Displaying excellent tennis skill all year long, the veteran "netters" had three individuals and one doubles' team advance all the way to the state finals competition. Seniors Helen Steussy, Kim Coffey and Patti Jennings all won first round matches in state competition but were defeated in second round action.

The sophomore doubles team of Nancy Stine and Cathy Coffey also advanced to state but were beaten after a hard fought match in the first round. Senior Cindy Crane, junior Brenda Myers and sophomores Lisa Coleman and Jara Masters rounded out the varsity squad. Next year's team will miss the talents of the first four players due to graduation.

Girl Thinlies Face Rough Schedule

Behind the strength of solid performances in both track and field events, the girls' track team coached by Miss Gloria Castelluccio fought their way to a seasonal mark of 2-2 in dual meet competition. Team members who competed consistently all season in the field events included Kathy Benson in the shot-put, Susan Heilman in the high jump and Rita Sanders in the softball throw.

Outstanding members of the track events were senior Janice Walker in the 880 and 440 yard runs, Janet Garner in the 100 yard run, and the 880 yard medley relay team of Robin Kendall, Dana Covey, Janice Walker and Janet Garner. The 880 medley team and Janice Walker, in the individual 880 yard run, were the only qualifiers for regional competition, neither advanced.

Softball Team Hits into Undefeated Season

Going undefeated for the first time in their short five year history, the girls' softball team went 7-0 for the 1974 season. The team, coached by Mrs. Carol Lewis, ran up such high scores that every game was won in only five innings instead of the regulation seven.

Individually for the Trojanettes, Carrie Mercer, Cathy Stinson, Susan Rifner, and Jeanitta Smith all hit home runs. The winning pitchers for the team were Jenny Duncan and Susan Rifner. These two girls combined for a total of fifteen strikeouts.

In over-all statistics, the team scored 186 runs to their opponents' 55. The highlight of the season was clobbering rival Mt. Vernon twice by scores of 27-7 and 13-2. Marcia Givens was the statistician and Sue Elkins was the equipment manager for the team. The team will lose only one player to graduation.

Girls Spikers Set 6-8 Seasonal Mark

This year's girls varsity volleyball team experienced a rebuilding season posting a 6-8 record. Although the season was a losing one, the team gained valuable playing experience losing just three senior starters and four seniors overall. Coach Glenna Gibson stated that "our team seemed to get up and play good volleyball against the highly regarded teams and have a let down when facing lesser competition this season."

The varsity squad was the only team to win a game this year from state finalist Muncie North. Graduating members of the team include Robin Kendall, Inga Brown, Valerie Barnes, Angie Neal and Joyce Swoveland. Next year's team will be led by varsity returnees Nancy Stine, Dana Covey, Cathy Coffey, Lori Freeburg and Wendy Wilson, all who saw considerable action this past season.

Gymnastics Team Captures Sectional Crown

The Gymnastics team vaulted their way into one of their most successful seasons this year. Coached by Miss Rae Ferrell the girls for the first time won the sectional tourney.

The Girls' Gymnastics team capped an outstanding season by winning first place in the intermediate level at the sectional. Coach Rae Ferrell guided her young gymnasts to a very excellent nine win and one loss season. This was only the third year of existence for the team. The young team lost by only five points to Muncie North who spoiled an unblemished record.

Members of the sectional intermediate team who won first place were Shelley Arnold, Cathy Coffey, Amy Danielson, Holly Poer, and Barbara Thompson. These girls qualified for regional competition where they were stopped by fierce competition for the state finals.

Girl Cagers Continue Winning Season

This year's girls' basketball team finished their season by winning five consecutive games and ending with a fine 10-4 won-lost record. With only one returning starter, Annette Clappitt, back from last year's winning squad, Coach Linda Stairs molded together a balanced starting line-up and a solid bench on the way to a winning season.

Starters were seniors Valerie Barnes, Robin Kendall and Annette Clappitt; and juniors Rita Sanders and Carrie Mercer. Sanders was the leading scorer and rebounder for the roundballers, averaging 12.6 points and 7 rebounds a game. Clappitt led the team in assists as well as playing solid defense and acting as floor general on offense.

Cheerleaders Boost Enthusiasm for Trojan

Leading school teams on to victory and building spirit within the school were big chores for the varsity and junior varsity cheerleading squads. The girls experimented with many different yells, trying to get the greatest amount of support for the Trojan athletes. Varsity cheerleaders were seniors Stephanie Osborne and Greta Morris, juniors Kandi Hutson and Beth Macer, and sophomore Robbin Edmondson. Miss Gloria Castelluccio worked with the five varsity cheerleaders every week. Both squads attended the Dynamic Cheerleaders Association camp at Anderson College last summer. The varsity placed first in pep session competition and captured second in all-around cheerleading contests.

The Junior Varsity cheerleaders were juniors Dianna Lorton and Joyan Wisheart, sophomores Karen Benson and Suzanne Horn. Their sponsor was Mrs. Janet Manning.

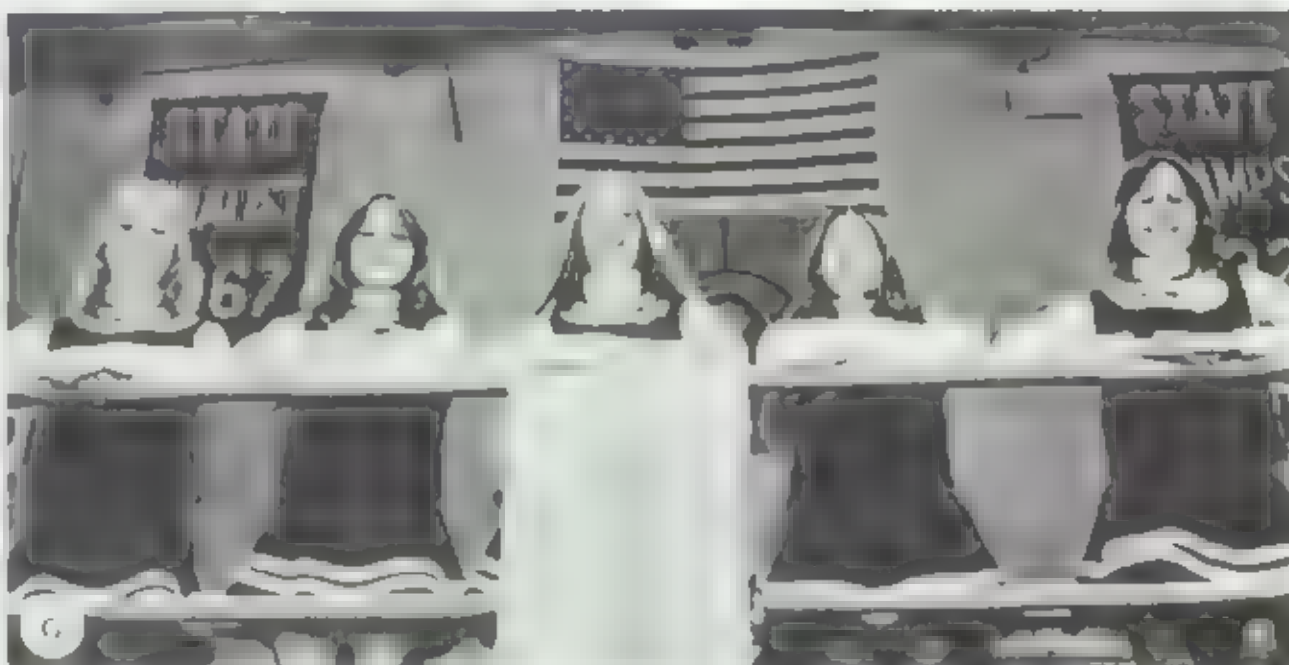

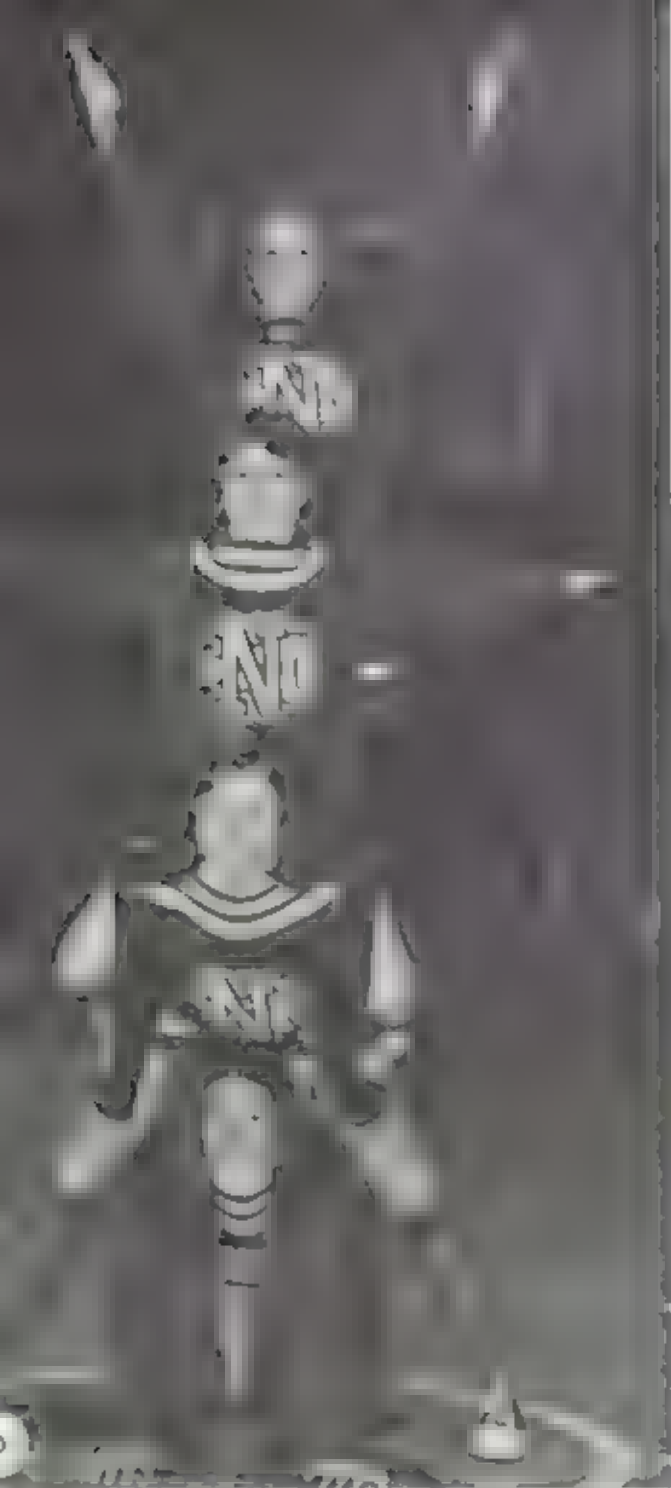

Mr. Frank Kovalski was the athletic director, ably assisted by ticket manager Mr. Horace Cook. Mr. Kovalski was in charge of organizing both boys' and girls' athletic events. In addition to scheduling, he was responsible for all physical education and recreation in grades one through twelve. Mr. Cook handled all ticket sales for CHS sports as well as the purchase and distribution of athletic awards.

Pep club worked hard this year to regain the spirit in CHS. They filled the halls with the "Tear 'em up, Beat 'em up" slogans for the athletes of the school. They planned spirit making pep sessions and special spirit boosting campaigns. Approximately thirty members used their talent, spirit, and time to spread spirit at CHS.

Pep Block filled Section D of the field house with their Trojan green and white T-shirts. The pride and enthusiasm shown in the block was great this year. Officers this year were Terry Disbro, president; Walt Chambers, vice-president; Sharon Hurd, secretary; Brenda Lorton, treasurer

Girls' Intramurals Offer Recreational Fun

Providing fun and activity was the main goal of Girls' Intramurals. This new club replaced GAA. It was not a part of the state organization and wasn't required to follow set rules. This change was intended to make the club appealing to a greater number of girls.

Members were given a wide variety of chances to display their athletic abilities. Flag football opened the year and acquainted members with the club. Basketball and volleyball were the main winter sports. Softball was played in the spring.

Susan Cain served as treasurer and was the only officer. Mrs. Janet Manning, phys. ed. teacher, sponsored the enjoyable new club.

FCA Provides Conference Scholarships

Fellowship of Christian Athletes was an organization for CHS boys and girls who were interested in athletics and Christianity. FCA members strived to "confront athletes and coaches, and through them the youth of our community, with the challenge and adventure of following Christ and serving Him through the fellowship of the church and in their vocations."

Huddle meetings were held every two weeks at CHS or in the homes of adult chapter members. Typical meeting activities included small group discussions and programs in the form of films, tapes and written materials.

The year was highlighted by three conferences. The Henry County Adult Chapter of FCA sponsored a one day conference for Henry County athletes in early April. Later that month, members went to Wabash College for a weekend state conference. Approximately twenty boy and girl athletes then attended national conferences in Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. On Honor Day, two scholarships were presented to outstanding athletes. These were for the national FCA conference held during the summer and were awarded to a boy and a girl. Tim Reagan received this in 1974. He attended camp in central Michigan, where he heard speeches from outstanding athletes.

Officers were Tom Fike, captain; Bob Caffoe, captain-elect; Jim Barr, treasurer; and Bob Boyd, secretary. Mr. Duane Peka was sponsor.

NFL Encourages Participation

The National Forensic League encourages participation in the speech program by awarding national recognition to students for their achievement. The NFL is made up of students who earn the right to be a member by accumulating points through competition. A student earns additional points and recognition as he continues to participate. Points are recorded and awards are given from the national office. A student can earn points through Debate, Solo Speech and Student Congress

There were 15 Speech meets in the Speech and NFL season. During the year NFL sponsored one speech meet and one Debate tournament along with hosting the Speech sectional and doing programs for civic organizations. As a money making project, NFL sponsored a book fair. Recipients of double rubies were Tom Hamm, Brent Taylor, Shawn McGee, Greg Rose, Brenda Myers, David McCaslin and Denise Dingle.

Thespians Have New Director

The main objective of Thespians was to foster and promote active participation in theater. Thespians gave students a chance to work in the area of theater in which they were interested. The crews were costumes, props, tickets, publicity, lights, sounds and acting positions.

A high school in the New York slums was the setting for the Thespians' fall play, "Up the Down Staircase." The winter play presented by the Thespians was "The Silver Whistle." An old folks' home served as background for this comedy. A cast party was held after each play. Thespians also presented a children's theater production this spring.

This year, Mr. Dennis Eller was the new director for Thespians. Officers for the 1974-1975 Thespian year were Bruce Babcock, president; Jim Barr, vice president; Angie Neal, secretary. Cindy Vaughan and Carol Nist were treasurers.

La Tertulia Adopts Countries

"Adopt a Country" was a project of La Tertulia which gave each member a chance to investigate and report on Spain or a Latin American country. These reports were presented to ninth grade Spanish classes. Models, maps, and other projects accompanied the reports.

Adoption was applied not only to countries, but also to children. Through the international organization — CARE — members sponsored a child in each country investigated.

This was the first year Spanish Club was connected with a national organization, The Spanish Heritage Association Membership in this gave students the chance to compete on a national level for prizes, such as trips to Spain.

The year's activities included a Christmas party and another party held at the end of the year.

Officers were Susan Leitch, president; John Neal, vice-president; Kathy Watt, secretary; Maria Tabares, vice-secretary; Pat Wicke, treasurer; and Theresa Stephenson, vice-treasurer. Mrs. Agnes Tabares was club sponsor.

To give club members a first hand view of the ruins which remain of the Roman civilization, Chrysler High's chapter of JCL participated in a tour of Italy over spring vacation. This aided the students in understanding ancient life styles.

Rome, Pompeii, Naples, and Sorrento were the major cities toured. Many landmarks were seen, including the Colosseum, Vatican, Forum, and catacombs. Six CHS students and four from junior high participated in this nationally sponsored event.

At the beginning of the year, a picnic was held. Prior to Christmas, members met at Mac's for a meal, then proceeded to carol to local residents in the community.

In ceremonial attire, club members joined together in March for a banquet. They acted out the roles of Roman citizens paying tribute to their gods. In addition to this activity, two conventions were held. In April, JCL members participated in the state convention held at Ball State University.

Club officers for the year were David VanHoose, president; Brent Bronnenberg, vice-president; Beth Holloway, recording secretary; Debbie Roberts, corresponding secretary; and Tom Hamm, treasurer.

FORSCO Boasts Record Enrollment

Eighty-nine members constituted a record enrollment for FORSCO. This was partly due to a revision in the Constitution which allowed sophomores to join at the beginning of the school year. Membership included Marie Joelle Tisserand, American Field Service foreign student from France

In October, the annual foreign food sale was held. Members later sold Trojan pennants as another money making project. Profits from these ventures were used to help cover school expenses for Marie Joelle.

Foreign student day, which had previously been held in the spring, was moved up to December. Exchange students attending Indiana colleges were invited to tour CHS and local points of interest. A pitch-in supper and dance concluded the day

The officers of FORSCO were Bruce Babcock, president; Debby Bertram, vice-president; Lynn Mark, secretary; Cindy Vaughan, vice-secretary; and Terry Miller, treasurer; Mrs. Agnes Tabares was sponsor.

Phoenix Staff Relates Current Events

Attempting to keep the student body aware of school-related and special interest events, PHOENIX staff published a bi-weekly newsmagazine. Issues ranging between eight and twelve pages were produced. The paper's popularity was indicated by the many letters received.

Co-editors Karen Hinshaw and Shawn McGee attended Ball State Journalism Workshop last summer where they were able to learn the most modern techniques. In place of photographs, artwork and designs were used whenever appropriate. A new section, Indepth-o-spect, was an addition to the paper this year. An indepth look at various organizations and programs was presented there throughout the year.

Co-editors Shawn McGee and Karen Hinshaw also served as editorial editor and business manager, respectively. Other staff members included Melody Sutherland and Connie Hancock, advertising managers; David G. Smith, photographer; Barb Fowler, Kathe McLean and Dan Oxley, feature editors; Ellen Lewis and Colleen Sanders, news editors; Angie Neal and Jeff Rucker, sports editors, Jeff McRoberts, Indepth-O-Spect editor; and Linda Webb and Amy Danielson, first semester reporters. Miss Frances Halberstadt was advisor. Additional students were allowed to become members of the staff during the second semester.

Rosennial Portrays "Multiple Choice"

Striving to include the many different facets of school life, staff members photographed groups and individuals, wrote copy, drew layouts, and identified pictures. The product of many hours of hard work was an unprecedented 232 page ROSENNIAL with six color pages.

To help meet expenses, ads were sold to local merchants, a car wash was held, and tickets to the Carpenters' concert were sold. The beginning of the subscription drive was marked by a convocation. The theme centered around television commercials and game shows.

"Multiple Choice" was chosen as the theme of the ROSENNIAL. This was to show that CHS is composed of many factors. In all sections of the yearbook, it was emphasized that many decisions are left up to each individual student.

"Multiple Choice" was extended to the cover designed by Diane Selvy. Classes, sports, and extra-curricular activities were portrayed.

Co-editors Annette Clappitt and Kevin Keith, along with layout editor Claudia Cory, attended a yearbook workshop at Ball State University during the summer.

News Staff Informs CHS

Chrysler High's morning announcement team is making its first appearance in the ROSENNIAL this year. Mr. James Robbin's broadcasting staff did the ten minute morning announcements every day at CHS. These announcements included interviews on accomplishments in athletics and clubs and the daily news of the school. The music on the announcements was picked by the staff members. The video tape of CHS news was rebroadcast two times every day on Channel 11. Approximately twenty five students worked to provide a professional touch to the school announcements in home rooms

Channel 11 Is at the Scene

Channel 11 staff increased almost three times this year. The young crew was busy with many programs such as CHS news, PJHS news, art programs, sports events, and special activities at the auditorium. Many of their after-school hours, independent modules, and evenings were used in the studio of the Junior High.

Mr. Alan Oliver was their new sponsor this year, and he stressed professionalism in the crews' work. Channel 11 provided many opportunities in television and a vocational program which allowed senior students to work on a paid basis. This year's officers were Kevin Holsapple, president; Leon Loveless, vice-president; Russell Cory, secretary; and Lance Brown, treasurer.

Great success and fame were found in Chrysler High School's Trojan Marching Band this year. They took first place for the second time at the Delaware County Fair and received second place at the Winchester contest. The highlight of the year for the band, Mr. Robert Shauver, and his staff, was capturing first place at the Indiana State Fair, August 21, 1974

Preparation for these contests began in July with evening practices five days a week from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. Band camp followed in August with a week of hard work and marching seven hours a day. The traditional initiation of new band members was performed during this week with an added candlelight service when the new members officially took their place in block band. The ice cream social was the first performance before State Fair to display the outcome of their hard work

The victory at state brought on many trips for the number one band in the state. They executed their show at an Indiana University and a Ball State University football game and played a concert on the courthouse lawn on election day. They also performed in February as honor band at Edison Pageant of Light Contest in Ft Myers, Florida. The band competed in parade and field competition with a new routine. They finished fifth overall

The Trojan Marching Band executed pre-game and halftime shows at the football games this year and put all of the music from these shows into a concert, Halftime Highlights. The Trojan Band and the Richmond Band did a routine together at the New Castle, Richmond football game. A day of school was taken for the preparation of the show. January 6th, the band played a concert at the State House as a bill to honor them was passed

During the basketball games the pom-poms and flags provided entertainment for Chrysler High School. February 1st was the solo and ensemble contest at Ball State University in which several band members participated with excellence. Full Concert band performed at the Large Ensemble Contest April 19th, showing their quality and musicianship

CHS Singers Perform With Pride and Excellence

Entertaining, learning, enjoying, and singing were the goals of the singers of CHS. Chorale was a class in which they performed and selected a wide variety of music. They participated in the Spring Sing, the Spring Musical, and many outside projects such as "The Messiah" performed in New Castle. They sang at contest and at many concerts. The officers this year were Jan Blasing, president; Jeff Ankrom, vice-president; Sherrell Bunton, treasurer; Angie Neal, secretary; and Bruce Babcock and April Farley, librarians.

Madrigals and Swing Choir performed with great quality. Madrigals executed high caliber music of the renaissance period. They rehearsed Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 7:30. They sang at several community performances and showed their touch of class at the Christmas Madrigal Dinner, a beautiful event. Swing Choir set a high standard in swing music and also attended contest. Both groups received superior ratings.

Girls' Choir as a class had many performances also and participated in solo, ensemble, and full choir contest. The officers included Laurie Powell, president; Jill LaBolle, vice-president; Valerie Franklin, librarian, and Diane Flowers, treasurer. Mr. Charles Craig was the director of all of the singing groups this year and helped them perform with excellence.

Studio Orchestra offered all string students in Chrysler High School and Parkview Junior High School the experience of playing in a full orchestra this year. Selected wind and percussion players from both of the schools' concert bands also played in Studio Orchestra with Mr. B.A. Langdon as their director. They played many varieties of music.

Beginning in October they practiced every Thursday after school in the Music Suite. Members participated in solo and ensemble auditions January 27 at Ball State University and full orchestra auditions April 19 at Muncie South. The Orchestra toured the grade schools on March 19 and 20 to give the younger students an opportunity to hear orchestra music and to encourage their participation in this program. They ended the year with the Spring Concert May 9. The officers of orchestra were Tanya Thompson, president; Cindy Vaughan, vice-president; Lee Grear, secretary; and Marianna Regner, treasurer.

Chess and Bible Club Show Strategy and Devotion

Chess team competed in nine meets and three tournaments this year. The team practiced twice a week beginning in September and competing up through March. Mr. Wayne Akey and Mr. Ronald Grimes sponsored the team which was a part of the East Central Indiana Chess Association along with five other schools. Their officers included Jeff Lawson, president; Tracy Lavarney, secretary and Bill Noble, team captain.

Bible club, founded in 1951, is nearing its 25th anniversary. Mr. Hobart Risley and the club encouraged reading literature of and inspired by the Bible, religious related occupations, and expression of religion. They presented a book to the library connected with religion and paid for it by having two cookie sales. The officers included Julie Davis, as president; Rainna Jacobs, as vice-president; Doug Magers, as secretary; and Brent Crockett, as treasurer.

Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service are four qualities which are found in the members of National Honor Society. Through these four traits, the members work against many negative forces in today's society. Mrs. Judith Sorrell was the sponsor. Members were nominated by the faculty and initiated at their annual spring banquet.

COE Works in Local Businesses

The main purpose of COE was to provide office training for accountants, secretaries, or general office clerks with local businesses serving as extended school classrooms.

Many hours also were spent outside of school attending regional and state meetings. The Region Nine officers' leadership training session was held in the Bundy Auditorium in October. Kristi Lantz served as district parliamentarian. There was a regional meeting held at Connersville on February 15 and the state meeting was a two day session in Indianapolis during the month of April.

During the local election of COE officers in September, the result was Kim Hart, president; Beverly Logan, vice-president; Lana Lowe, secretary; Janet Keener, treasurer; Jenny Pavey, historian; Leona Raines, reporter; Kristi Lantz, parliamentarian. The sponsor was Mr. Cecil Powell.

IOL Gains Experience in Building Careers

Karen Smith, Barbara Sexton. Not present for the picture were Jo Ann Edwards, J. Michael, Jeanne Pickens.

Daily office work was part of an IOL student's school day. Half of the school day was spent in required classes and the other half was known as "office lab." Here, the members worked on projects for business and school in an office atmosphere. They devised a motto, "Experience in Building a Career," because they felt this training gave them a real chance to prepare for the office work in their chosen future career.

The primary way IOL students made money for their organization was by promoting the "Carpenters." Other money was made by doing office work for local businesses, clubs, and organizations. Also, they served as teacher's aids by working for school teachers and staff.

Officers of the Office Education Association, the co-curricular club of the IOL were: Jill Michael, president; Terri Steadman, vice-president; Tanna Wilkinson, secretary; Jo Ann Edwards, treasurer and historian, and Jeannie Pickrell, parliamentarian.

(A) The Office manager, Jill Michael, and the Coordinator, Mrs. Carolyn Todd, work diligently together.
 (B) Barbara Sexton does a lot of mental work aided by the computer.
 (C) Terri Smith works steadily at stapling papers.
 (D) Terri Steadman takes advantage of the department's equipment by using the type writer.

Health occupations gave much of their time to local services such as doing volunteer work at the State Hospital and at local nursing homes. They also sponsored an activities workshop for nursing home personnel which was an all-day event.

There were also a few students who chose unique occupations such as a job at Main and Frame Funeral Home and at the Blue River Wildlife Reserve. Most participants in the program worked 15-25 hours per week. HO not only included students at CHS but also students from other county high schools.

Officers for this school year were Nancy Brasich, president; George Baker, vice-president; Susan Bittner, secretary; Joyce Powell, treasurer; Becki Zehner, recorder; Theresa Sutton, historian, with Mrs. Shirley Smalley, sponsor.

HERO Has Something for Everyone

Participating in Home Economics Related Occupations were young men and women involved in a search for a full and useful life. Through their interest in home economics and the jobs and careers related to this profession, they become members of HERO, a program of class learning, chapter activities and job experiences.

Through HERO chapter activities, members learned to make realistic transitions and demands. Among this year's activities were serving refreshments for the Area Vocational School Open House, running the concession stand for the elementary school track meet and for the Carpenters.

Officers this year were Terry Craig, president; Jill Divine, vice-president; Pam Stegner, secretary; Anita Campbell, treasurer; Linda Asberry, historian; and Muzetta Guymon, sponsor.

DECA, the oldest vocational group in New Castle, is 21 years old and one of the eight original DECA clubs in Indiana. DECA, or the Distributive Education Club of America, is a club to which all D.E. students must belong. Its purpose is to give students in DECA an opportunity for social and business contact with other students in the field of merchandising and with the employers and leaders in this field.

DECA members were involved in several money making projects. They sold candy bars and with other CHS clubs sponsored the Carpenters. The club members also voted on what type of spirit button they wanted, and sold those during basketball season, as well as candles that they sold in the spring of 1975.

Officers for the club were Jim Lines, president; Jack Maze, vice-president; Debbie Troxell, secretary; Terry Mayberry, treasurer; Ron Moffitt, historian; Tina Sears, reporter; David Huckleby, parliamentarian; and sponsor Mr. Leonard Smith.

Building Trades Stress Construction Skills

Learning the practical aspects of construction, students enrolled in Building Trades received valuable experience in planning and estimating. Their year-long objective was the construction of a house, located on Bronson Drive. Meeting as a vocational class, they worked three hours each school day.

Construction was done by the class under the supervision of student foremen. In addition to the actual construction, they installed windows, doors, wiring, heating, and plumbing. After the house was trimmed and painted, the surrounding area was landscaped.

A field trip to the annual Home Show held in Indianapolis provided students with broader views and new concepts concerning construction. Another activity of the year was the sale of tickets to the Carpenters' concert and construction of the set for the performance.

Tom Pratt served as supervisor and was in charge of plans and specifications. Rex Christner, carpentry foreman, Rick Longfellow, wiring foreman, Gary Grifey, heating foreman, Herman Oxley, plumbing foreman, Mike Moore, interior walls foreman; and Rodney Jolley was in charge of concrete and masonry. Mr. Glenn Underwood was instructor and coordinator.

Electronics Club Members Earn Recognition

Proving themselves to be truly of service to the school and community, Electronics Club took on many projects. Members operated lights and sound in the Bundy Auditorium. They worked during plays, convocations, and special programs. Colorful lighting and sound work were their specialties.

Members sold cokes at the concession stands during basketball games. The money earned was used to hold an awards banquet. As an additional award, each member who completed his first one-hundred hours was given a jacket with the Bundy Technical staff insignia.

Officers were Glen Sharp, president; and Ray Neal, secretary-treasurer. Robert Johnson was sponsor.

VICA-"C" Has State Officers

Preparing students for futures in trade, industrial, and technical occupations, VICA-"C" utilized job openings in order to give on-the-job experience. Students attended school for half the day and worked at their training stations the other half.

The year's many activities began with the election of officers. This led to the annual state election, held each September in Indianapolis. New Castle sent one candidate, Wilbur Holaday. He was victorious and became state reporter.

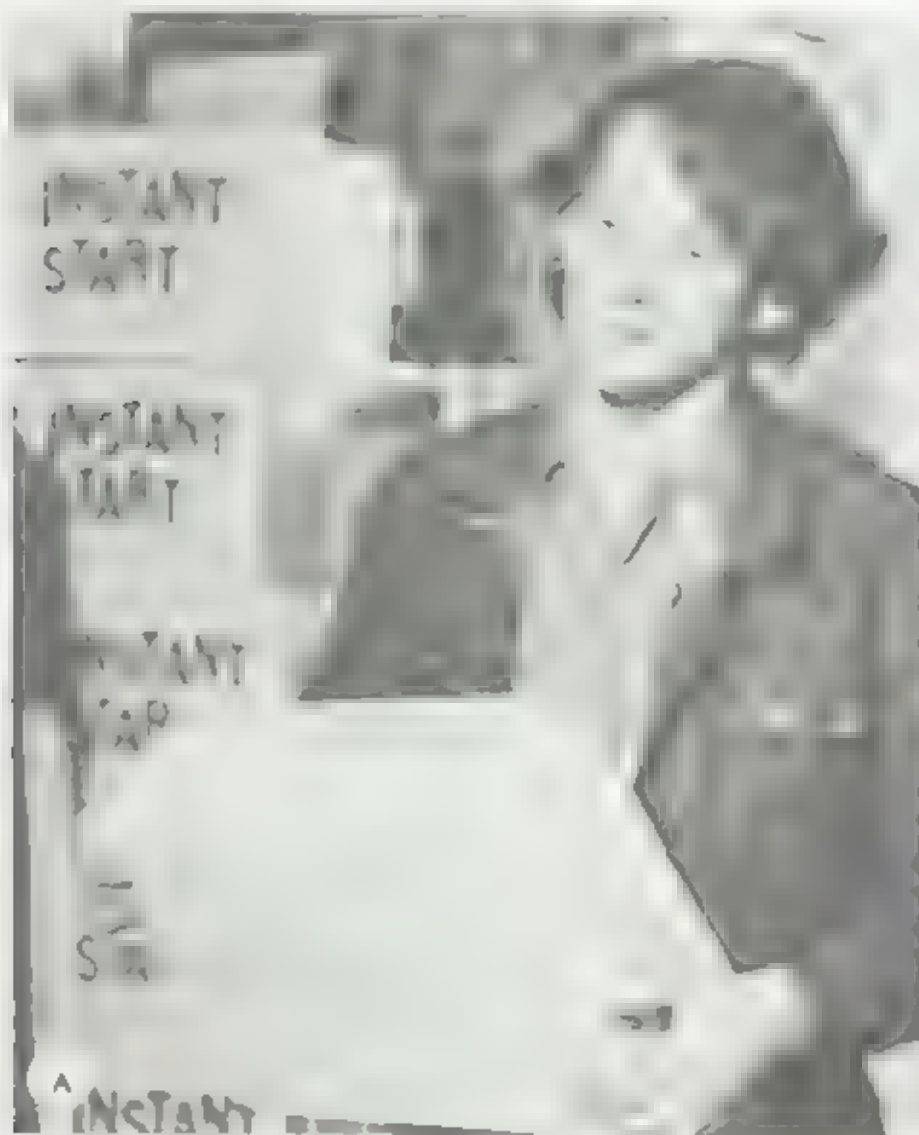

Activities for the year were numerous. Fund raising projects included the sale of tickets to the Carpenters' concert. In February, donations of blood were made to the Henry County Blood Bank. During April, area students participated in regional skill contests. The state contest was held in Indianapolis on May 3. To show their appreciation, students honored their employers at an employer-employee banquet at the end of the year.

VICA-"C" officers for 1974-1975 were Wilbur Holaday, president; Tim Bowman, vice-president; Scott Shaffer, secretary; and Tony Hill, treasurer. Mr. Ray Vulkan and Mr. Donald Geozeff were co-sponsors.

VICA-'D' Teaches Vocational Skills

Vocational training was the main objective of VICA-"D". The club consisted of juniors and seniors who received training in the machine shop and in building trades.

Election of officers, field trips to local industries and regional and state skill contests highlighted the year. The regional contest was held April 12 in Fort Wayne and the state contest was held May 3 in Indianapolis. The only fund raising activity was the sale of tickets to the Carpenters' concert.

All work was done during school, but members were kept informed of local job openings. Club meetings also were held during school.

Officers were Randy Hayes, president; Tom Pratt, vice-president; Dale Armstrong, treasurer; and Rick Thompson, secretary. Mr. Glenn Underwood and Mr. Murl Carnes were the sponsors of VICA-D.

PVE Provides Job Experience

The opportunity of working on a salary basis attracted juniors to the Practical Vocational Education program. Volunteer work began with taking care of migrant pre-school children. Later in the year projects included painting the stage, setting up bleachers for football games and preparing the gym for the Carpenters' concert.

As openings in local businesses became available, PVE students began on-the-job training which led to full or part-time employment. Those not hired on a paid basis continued to do volunteer work for the school.

Each club meeting was held in connection with a pitch-in lunch. Other highlights of the year included field trips to businesses and industries, and the annual awards trip in June.

Pom-pons Offer Entertainment

The main purpose of the Pom-pon Corps during the school year is to provide entertainment for basketball games. Regular meetings were held every week night of a game from 5:30-7:30. The Pom-pon Corps kept busy during the year. Much of their time was spent earning money for their Florida band trip which was in February. The club's money earning projects were a bake sale and selling candy bars.

Officers of the 1974-1975 Pom-pon Corp were Jan Blasing, president; Cindy Whiteman, vice-president; Brenda Myers, secretary; and Vickie McWhorter, choreographer.

Chrysler High — More Than Just an Experience

The year of 1974-75 was highlighted in many ways.

Some of the events may now seem more important than others. But to each of us, the year will be remembered in a different way. To many, it will always be known as the year the CHS band took state.

To others it may mark the time of finally getting those straight A's. Earning a first place award in competition.

Deciding on a goal. Meeting new friends and just having a great time.

No matter how the year was highlighted, these events have helped shape our lives, making Chrysler High School more than just an experience.

These diverse outlooks on the year have been possible because of the number of areas from which each of us had to choose. The series of ways we remember 1975 results from the decisions we made.

As the school year comes to a close, we will be taking a step from a somewhat smaller niche into a larger and more complex world of MULTIPLE CHOICE.

(A) When it snowed, there was outdoor fun at Memorial Park for many students.
 (B) Joyce Swoveland takes times out of the every day shuffle to sing one of her own songs.
 (C) Working toward his goal as a wrestler, senior Mike Raines spent many long, hard hours in the weight room.
